BLOCKS HOUSE MOVE TO LAUD HARVEY HADDIX

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—It's not that House Speaker H. G. Andrews has anything personal against Harvey Haddix, the now-famed pitcher of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

But Andrews, 82, has been in and out of the Pennsylvania legislature since 1932. And in that period had to listen to, talk on, and vote on thousands of resolutions best described as harmless.

Yesterday, with bi-partisan support, there came to the floor of the House a resolution to commend Haddix for his remarkable feat of pitching 12 perfect innings against the Milwaukee Braves last week.

Up rose Andrews. "Gentlemen," he said, "some time or other the House leadership must place some bounds on the range of resolutions that are presented. This type of resolution is absolutely in derogation of the dignity of the House."

Andrews' words had the effect of knocking Haddix out of the box, or, if you will, sending him to the bullpen.

For without unanimous consent to admit such a resolution to a vote, the matter must be referred to the rules committee for study.

It may be the committee will be able to say how Haddix pitched such sparkling ball for 12 innings. The Milwaukee Braves certainly would like the answer.

There was nothing else said. But on Capitol Hill newsmen who must report the volume of resolutions, and perhaps some legislators, felt proud of Andrews.

Lauded Golfer
They saw, perhaps, a diminished number of resolutions praising winning a spelling bee to winning a track meet.

Some, perhaps, remembered the speed with which the House passed a resolution last month praising Pennsylvania Art Wall Jr. for winning the Masters golf tournament. Never a word of opposition was spoken. Certainly there was none from Wall's father, who sat proudly in the seat he has occupied in the House for many years.

Andrews had a suggestion on how best to deal with such resolutions. He said the House should set aside one day, "preferably a Thursday, devoted wholly to such resolutions."

The House normally does not meet on Thursday.

BLUE CROSS TO GET INCREASE

HARRISBURG (AP)—State Insurance Commissioner Francis R. Smith said today he has "no alternative" but to grant partial rate increases to Blue Cross plans which serve the majority of pre-paid hospitalization subscribers in Pennsylvania.

Saying the plans face an "impossible situation," Smith declared:

"I have no alternative but to grant rate increases within reason and place the cost on groups most able to bear it."

He explained that the "groups" consist mainly of employed persons who belong to organized Blue Cross units. They are for the most part young persons who are able to afford increases, he said.

Asked if he would allow all of the sizeable rate increases sought by four of the state's five major Blue Cross plans, Smith replied, "Oh, no."

He declined to estimate how large the boost would be.

BLACK MICE MAY BE LOST

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Four black mice, blasted aloft in an Air Force attempt to return a living creature from a satellite for the first time, apparently didn't make it.

The Air Force wanted them to orbit the earth in a satellite, Discoverer III, for 26 hours, then parachute in their air-conditioned capsule.

However, something went wrong. The two-stage Thor missile roared into space Wednesday as scheduled and sent back radio signals for 13 minutes. Then the signals stopped. The Air Force said it has heard nothing since.

The 78-foot-long projectile was presumed to have burned up on reentering the atmosphere. It was considered highly unlikely that it could have escaped the earth's pull, because of speed factors.

Planes had been poised to try a difficult aerial catch over the Pacific. But officials had given them only one chance in 700 of succeeding.

PRIZE WINNER

Michael Orndorff, 10, Emmitsburg, was announced today as the top Maryland prize winner in the AAA's 15th national traffic safety poster contest. He also won second award in the elementary school division of the contest. The announcement was made by Kenneth E. Sinn, manager of the Hagerstown branch of the Automobile Club of Maryland.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
Gettysburg College To Erect $200,000 Chapel On Women's Campus: Plans for a new $200,000 chapel for Gettysburg college were outlined today by Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president, at the annual meeting of the board of trustees of the college.

The new structure will be of colonial style architecture to harmonize with other campus buildings and will replace Brua chapel, which is now in use. The new chapel will be located near the Stanley memorial gardens on the women's campus at a spot selected by Dr. Paul Cret, professor of architecture at the University of Pennsylvania. Doctor Cret was the architect for the Eternal Light Peace Memorial on the battlefield.

Seating capacity of the building will be 1,100 as compared with the 600 capacity of the present structure.
Doctor Hanson announced that an unnamed benefactor has donated $25,000 toward the cost of the chapel and the Woman's League of Gettysburg college has assumed part of the expenses as its current project.

College Board Frowns On Secret Student Weddings: Frowning upon all student marriages, the Gettysburg college board of trustees at its annual session this morning voted that all secret student marriages shall result in the immediate expulsion of the students involved.

The board's action is believed to have been prompted by several student marriages revealed during the year.

Three Have Perfect School Attendance Records For 12 Yrs.:
Three members of the Gettysburg high school graduating class who received diplomas Thursday evening finished their public school careers with perfect attendance records for 12 years.

Miss Lena Hartzell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hartzel, Lincolnton, Pa.; Russell Cook,
son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Cook, Cassport, Pa.; and Helen Sharrar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Sharrar, Orrtanna, Pa., were missed a day or more were tardy
during their entire school careers.
Miss Hartzell has received notice of having been awarded a scholarship to the Ernest Williams Summer Music camp, Saugerties, New York, as the result of her performance recently at state music contests in Lancaster. She plays the flute.

113 Graduates Take Part In H. S. Pageant: Members of the largest senior class in the history of Gettysburg high school ably presented a pageant entitled "A Vision of Home" previous to receiving their diplomas before a crowded auditorium at annual evening at the high school building.

The 113 members of the graduating class appeared in the pageant through tableaux and dramatization of a vision of the meaning and importance of the home.

Aumen Heads Relief Board:
James B. Aumen, West Middle street, prominent in lodge and firemen's organizations in Gettysburg, Adams county and the state, was elected chairman of the new
Adams County board of Public Assistance at its initial meeting this afternoon.

Other officers of the new board are: Vice chairman, Mrs. Mary K. McClean, Chambersburg street;
secretary, Mrs. R. S. Saby, Carlisle street.

Mothers Club Installs Staff At Luncheon: Officers for the coming biennium were installed and committees and department heads were named by the new president during the luncheon meeting of the Gettysburg Mothers' club,
Wednesday afternoon at Maple Corners, Springs Avenue.

Installation of the new officers for the next two years was conducted by Mrs. Spencer W.
Aungst, retiring president. The

Today's Talk

THE DAWN
I cannot recall the time when I did not look forward to the dawn of a new day. Everything about it is new—and inspiring.
It's then that the birds of springtime give their opening concert.
How very wonderful are these feathered songsters in the early springtime and summer.
How silently this Dawn creeps up, and before we realize it it's there and day is at hand. We welcome it, for its possibilities are often hidden from us until we have sufficient courage and vision to handle them.

I love the dawn in the "wide open spaces" with its wrappings in sheets of gold and silver. As it creeps out of the East we do a great deal of thinking. We make resolves, and offer a silent prayer for those whom we love, and for the many whom we do not know,
for we are of a pattern—the children of a universal Family.

Much of the glory of a day is what we make it to be. Its welcome should be from the heart.
And then we should be thrilled at the opportunity of entering that new day of ours, and become an entity—happily tired at its close.

Every day has its experiences.
Many are far reaching, affecting our thought and spirit. We should do what we can to give courage and hopefulness to all about us, for the more we do to make life's pathway smooth for others, the happier we are sure to be.

To relish the dawn we must put ourselves in the way to help and give. Happiness breeds happiness.

Just Folks

THE SHEATH SKIRT
Oh, have you seen the sheath-
skirt girl?
How wonderfully is she dressed!

In what a slender cylinder
Her graceful form is now compressed!

Oh, have you gazed upon her frame,
And have you wondered what she'd do

If she should have to bend herself

To fasten the buckle on her shoe?

Oh, have you gazed upon her
form,
Securely held from head to toe?

She dare not even give a yawn
For fear that something might let go,

And have you wondered what she'll do,

And just what seam will promptly tear

When she forgets herself and starts

To rearrange her short back hair?

Behold her tripping down the street,
Once fair and round, now
straight and thin;

Oh, lady, what would happen if You'd slip on a banana skin?

But still I wonder what you'd do
If on a crowded bus we'd meet?

Would you be brave enough to sit?

If I should offer you my seat?

ICC EXPLORES TRUCK BLAST

SCHUYLKILL HAVEN, Pa.
(AP)—Interstate Commerce Commission investigators have joined state police in a technical investigation to determine the exact cause of a propane gas truck explosion that killed 11 persons.

Ernest Cox, director of Motor Carrier Safety, said in Washington Wednesday that if any significant violations of ICC regulations are found appropriate action will be taken.

But he emphasized that the primary purpose is to determine if any change in safety regulations for motor carriers in interstate commerce could prevent similar accidents in the future.

Meanwhile, Officer Michael A.
Wisniewski of the State Bureau of Fire Protection, said that so far he has found no violations of the fire code.

He said it would be up to the state Labor and Industry Department to determine if there had been any gas-carrying violations.

The gas truck was involved in a collision Wednesday on heavily-traveled Route 122 and caught fire. It exploded a short time later. In addition to the dead, 15 were injured.

Conrad Close To New Air Record

NEW YORK (AP)—Max Conrad, trying for a light plane distance record, checked in over Corpus Christi, Tex., this morning and estimated his arrival time at El Paso at 11:51 a.m., Eastern Standard Time.

The Piper office here said it did not know whether he would try to go beyond El Paso, his original goal.

Conrad, 56 and making his 56th light plane Atlantic crossing, left Casablanca, Morocco, at 6:09 a.m.
(EST) Tuesday. If he reaches El Paso, he will have traveled 6,959 miles, cracking the record of 6,856 miles set last year by M.L. (aPT) Boling on a flight from Manila to Oregon.

FEW GAINS IN MARKET

TRIBE LOSES TO SENATORS; WHOLE LOOP IS CLOSING IN

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

They're still holding on by a scalplock, but Cleveland's tribe is fast becoming a bunch of vanishing Indians in that American League race.

Washington's Senators handed Cleveland a fifth consecutive defeat, 4-0, Wednesday night on home runs by Harmon Killebrew and Ron Samford that backed up Bill Fischer's three-hit pitching. All the once powerful Indians managed off the well-traveled right-hander was three singles as their lead dwindled to percentage points.

The Chicago White Sox moved into a virtual tie for the top, 903 behind, by reclaiming second place from Baltimore with a 6-1 victory over the Orioles in an afternoon game.

Closing In On Tribe

Fact is, the whole league has closed in on the Indians, who have lost seven of their last eight games. Baltimore is just a half-game behind. Fourth place Kansas City is only 1½ games back, after a 5-3 victory over the last place Boston Red Sox, who are just six games out of first. And fifth place Detroit is within 3½ games of the lead, even after losing 6-5 to the New York Yankees. The champs still are seventh, but only 4½ games shy of first.

Fischer, 28, who also has worked for the White Sox and Tigers, breezed to a 5-1 record after Killebrew hammered his 19th home run in the fourth inning and Samford made it 2-0 in the fifth.

The only hits off Fischer, who struck out four and didn't walk a man, were by Minnie Minoso in the second, Vic power in the sixth and Billy Martin in the ninth.

Win For Pierce

Herb Score (5-3) was the loser, giving up six hits in his six innings.

Southpaw Billy Pierce, after losing three straight, gained a 6-5 record with an eight-hitter as the White Sox ended their losing streak at three with their third victory in 11 games. Gene Woodley's eighth-inning homer junked Pierce's shutout bid. By then, the White Sox had a 5-0 lead, after being blanked on one-hit for four innings by Billy O'Dell (2-5).

Ex-Yankee Johnny Kucks (1-2) had a one-hit shutout for five innings for the A's, then gave up two walks and Ted Williams' scoring single in the sixth and finally needed Ray Herbert's relief. Bill Monbouquette (1-1) was the loser.

Chase Frank Lary

The Yankees, who had lost seven in a row to the Tigers, five this season, chased troublesome Frank Lary with five runs in the third, then had to wait until the ninth to clinch it on Mickey Mantle's tie-breaking home run off Ray Narleski (1-6). Home runs by John Blanchard, his first in the majors, and Yogi Berra, a two-run smacker, chased Lary. Charlie Maxwell's two-run homer helped the Tigers battle back to a tie before Ryne Duren finally wrapped up his first victory in relief decisions for the Yankees.

RICHELIE SHOWS SIGNS OF OLD BATTING FORM

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Is Richie Ashburn coming out of his batting slump?

Let's wait and see, he said Wednesday night after belting three singles in four trips and scoring two runs to help the Philadelphia Phillies to a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Ashburn, last year's National League batting champion with a .350 average, boosted his average from .231 to .243 as the Phillies opened a long home stand. He had gone 0-14 in the last three road games against Milwaukee.

Ashburn singled to open the third and scored on Ed Bouchee's fifth home run of the year to give the Phillies a 2-1 lead. The Cubs scored a run in the first on Tony Taylor's single, stolen base and an error.

Win For Owens

The Phillies iced the game in the fifth with a two-run outburst that chased starter and loser Dave Hillman (3-4). Ashburn started the rally with his third hit and stole second. Bouchee walked. Willie Jones and Wally Post followed with singles. Post's hit scored Bouchee with what proved to be the winning run.

Singles by Alvin Dark and Bobby Thomson and an error by Chico Fernandez accounted for the Cub's final run in the eighth.

Jim Owens went all the way for his fourth victory against three defeats. He allowed the Cubs eight hits and struck out six.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Gettysburg Little League

In a game loaded with hitting, fine fielding plays and fine base running, the Lions remained unbeaten in the Gettysburg Little League as they topped the Gettysburg National Bank 14-4 on the Recreation Field Wednesday evening.

The National Bank took a quick 1-0 lead in the top of the first on a walk to Jim Rowe, a single by Bob Harman and a ground ball by Eugene Pottoff. The Lions came right back in the bottom of the initial frame to score two. An infield error, Mike Boyer's triple and a wild pitch accounted for the runs.

A walk to Rowe, a passed ball and Pottoff's safety added another run for the Bank in the third. Larry White's single to left in the fourth helped to produce two more runs for the Bankmen.

The Lions chalked up a pair of tallies in the second on four straight singles by Dan King, Bob Little, Pete Nelson and Tom Gilbert. After a fly to the catcher, Bob Britcher lined another safety to center.

Sew Up Decision

The Lions iced the game in the fourth and fifth frames, tallying five runs in each inning. The power hitting in the final two Lion innings was by Mike Boyer, Tom Gilbert, Ed Tilberg and Bill Eden.

Mike Boyer, blasting a duo of triples, Ed Tilberg and Tom Gilbert paced the winners attack with a pair of safeties each. Gene Pottoff was the big man for the Bank as he belted a pair of singles and drove in two runs.

Bill Eden racked up 13 strikeouts to bring his season total to 24 as he captured his second win of the campaign. Mike Doyle, who needed help from Joe Redding in the third, is charged with the loss.

135 TEE OFF IN EASTERN OPEN

EASTERN OPEN SPORTS

BALTIMORE (AP)—More than one quarter of the players teeing off in the Eastern Open today will be honing up their competitive game for the prestige-laden United States Golf Assn. National Open Championship.

Nearly 40 of the Eastern entrants are eligible for the USGA event starting next Thursday at Mamaroneck, N.Y.

The Eastern, a municipal undertaking in all respects, is co-sponsored by the Professional Golfers Assn. which has lined up a field of at least 135.

Among them are virtually all of the most successful golfers on this year's tour.

These include Art Wall Jr., Arnold Palmer, Gene Littler, Don Whitte, Ken Venturi, Ernie Vossler and Mike Souchak. Among them, scheduled starters in the Eastern have taken 14 of the 19 PGA tournaments to date.

Baseball Racial Case Is Closed

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination has closed the Pumpie Green case against the Boston Red Sox.

The commission Wednesday announced it had accepted as "evidence of good faith" an assurance from the local American League baseball team it will pursue a policy of non-discrimination in hiring Negro ball players.

Six weeks ago the commission began an investigation of the ball club's activities after three Boston groups charged the Red Sox with bias when they sent Negro infielder Jerry (Pumpie) Green back to the Minneapolis farm team.

At the end of last week Green was batting .293 at second base for the Millers.

The Sox, at that time, replied "when capable players are available they will be used, regardless of race, creed or color."

Fullmer and Basilio Plan August Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Carmen Basilio has agreed to fight Gene Fullmer for the National Boxing Assn. version of the middleweight title and let Ray Robinson keep his New York version of the 160-pound crown. But there still is a big "if" to the middleweight title.

A few hours after Syracuse (N.Y.) promoter Norman Rothchild announced Wednesday that Basilio and Fullmer will meet during the first two weeks of August in a Western city, NBA President Dr. Ward Wylie came up with a statement that started boxing fans wondering.

Dr. Wylie, from his Mullens, Va., home, said the NBA's executive committee might reconsider its stand on stripping Robinson of his title at a meeting later this month.

The Basilio-Fullmer bout would bring together two ex-champions, who have met. Each won and lost championship bouts with Robinson, whose title claims were sustained by the New York State Athletic Commission two days ago.

Early last month Robinson was bereft of his crown by the NBA for failure to make a title defense in more than 14 months. The New York Athletic Commission's reverse action was based on its reasoning that Robinson had actually signed to fight Basilio in Philadelphia.

Basilio objected to that meeting because he said he was not consulted.

Johansson Would Be A Busy Champion

NEW YORK (AP)—Ingemar Johansson promised today if he wins the world's heavyweight title from Floyd Patterson at Yankee Stadium June 25, he won't be a lazy champion.

"If I win the world championship," the Swedish challenger said, "I would like very much to fight and fight much. I cannot say how many times, but I will like to defend my title."

The 26-year-old Ingys was quick to add that he wasn't predicting a victory over Patterson. The outcome, he said, is anybody's guess.

The Legion scored a run in the last of the eighth inning to nip the Eagles 3-2 Wednesday evening in a Big Little League game and took over sole possession of second place.

Maitland, winning pitcher, was touched for six scattered hits while his teammates could muster but two off the slants of E. Heiser.

After the Legion scored twice in the first frame the Eagles tallied runs in the third and fifth to knot the score and send the game into an extra frame.

J. McClell of the Eagles pounded a double for the game's lone extra base hit.

Pirates Beat Cards

While the Braves were spanking the Giants, third place Pittsburgh remained with 4½ games of the lead by beating St. Louis 5-3. Los Angeles defeated Cincinnati 5-1 on Stan Williams' two-batter, and Philadelphia beat the Chicago Cubs 4-3.

Mathews parked a 450-foot drive in the right-field bleachers with a man on to tie the score 3-3 in the sixth. Aaron then doubled and scored on Wes Covington's single for a three-run inning that defeated Jack Sanford (6-6) his fourth defeat in his last five decisions.

Mathews' winning shot came in the seventh off reliever Al Worthington, who then gave up Aaron's 15th.

Win For Buhl

Bob Buhl (4-3) was the winner, although giving way in the eighth when Willie Kirkland homered and the Giants loaded the bases with two out. Don McMahon saved it, striking out Andre Rodgers to end the threat.

Right-hander Bob Friend (2-7) won his second in a row for the Pirates, but needed Roy Face's perfect relief in the ninth. Bill Mazeroski's two-run triple tripled a four-run eighth that beat Cardinal left-hander Wilmer Mizell (6-1).

Owens Wins For Phils
John Roseboro belted a pair of homers Wednesday night for four runs against loser Orlando Pena, (3-3). The Reds' only hits off Williams (2-1) were singles by Roy McMillan in the third and Frank Robinson in the fifth.

Ed Bouchee hit a two-run homer, then walked and scored the clincher for the Phils on Wally Post's single in a two-run fifth. Jim Owens (4-3) won it, giving up eight hits but only one earned run. Dave Hillman (3-4) was the loser.

Injuries Cause Officer's Death

HARRISBURG (AP)—Herbert Little, 41, police chief of New Bloomfield, died at Harrisburg Hospital Wednesday of injuries suffered in an auto accident Tuesday that killed a Duncannon woman.

Mrs. Beatrice M. Harp was killed when Little's auto collided with a truck on U. S. 11 at nearby Wormleysburg.

Also injured in the crash and in critical condition at Harrisburg Hospital is Lloyd Maguire, 32, of Duncannon. Mrs. Harp and Maguire were passengers in Little's car.

BRAVES COME FROM BEHIND TO NIP GIANTS

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It seems like ages ago, but remember when the word was that Milwaukee's Braves were choke-up guys? Whether that was a bum rap or not, they're a cool crew of two-time champions, now, chopping down anyone who threatens their shot at a third straight National League pennant.

Wednesday night the Braves made it two straight over San Francisco, battling from behind for a 7-4 victory on a pair of two-run homers by Ed Mathews and a solo shot by Hank Aaron that clubbed the second place Giants 3½ games behind.

Mathews now has upped his total to 19 with three in two nights. And Aaron, who was hitless in three consecutive games, now has gone 5-for-7 in the last two, fattening his startling average to .426.

Chapter From Old West Being Re-enacted By U.S.

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Rangeland disputes, which provoked gun-fights in pioneer days, again are stirring Western ranchers.

In the past trouble stemmed from arguments between individual stockmen over range ownership and usage. Now the arguments involve ranchers and federal agencies.

The issue today is how many sheep and cattle will be permitted to graze on vast tracts of land which the federal government leases to ranchers.

They're Up In Arms
When Dave Little took over his father's sprawling southwestern Idaho livestock operation in 1942, he grazed sheep on 18,000 acres of the Boise National Forest.

This year, the Forest Service announced it is cutting his allotment to 1,050 acres because the land is being overgrazed.

"That puts me out of the sheep business," Little told a reporter. The Emmett, Idaho, rancher is one of many stockmen who are up in arms about recent cuts in grazing allotments by the Forest Service AND THE Bureau of Land Management (BLM).

Called Necessary
The federal agencies say the cuts are necessary for proper use of the land.

"Certainly grazing is a desirable thing, but we can't let one use destroy another," says Howard E. Ahlsgren, supervisor of the Boise National Forest.

The Forest Service recognizes five uses of the forests — water, timber, grazing, recreation and wildlife. Stockmen say grazing is getting short shift from the Forest Service and in some cases from the BLM.

Change Names At Old Army Post

FORT DEVENS, Mass. (AP)—The names of three streets on this old Army post have been changed as a kindness to youngsters.

Fredericksburg street has become Pine street, Chancellorsville now is Elm and Detroitsbriand has become Walnut street.

An Army officer explained Wednesday night that the original names of the streets were too difficult for youngsters to spell.

RED JETS MAKE 3 PASSES NEAR BIG AIR LINER

TOKYO (AP)—Jet planes believed to be Soviet made three observation approaches on an American airliner over the north Pacific today more than 200 miles off Soviet territory, Northwest Airlines reported.

The U.S. Air Force said it had no planes in the area at the time, prompting speculation that Soviet fighters had approached the Seattle-to-Tokyo Northwest DC7C.

The plane crew reported that the closest approach came within two or three miles but the plane or planes did not cross in front of the airliner.

The American plane continued on course and reached Tokyo ahead of schedule. Its 46 passengers were asleep and apparently unaware of the incident.

Reds Patrol Region
A Northwest spokesman said the mystery planes appeared when the airliner was some 200 miles southeast of the Soviet Union's Kamchatka Peninsula, at 50 degrees 50 minutes north latitude, 162 degrees 55 minutes east longitude, and in the center of the busy commercial airline used by five U.S., Canadian and European companies.

Siberian-based Soviet Jets have recently been reported patrolling the region of the great circle airline between Japan and Alaska. An airline spokesman said from vapor trails and specks in the dawn sky, it was assumed two or three jets were involved. The planes dropped two flares, presumably to identify the American craft.

MURDER TRIAL NEARING CLOSE AT LEWISTOWN

LEWISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A Union County jury was scheduled to hear final summations by the defense and prosecution today in the murder trial of 47-year-old Larue Lovell, of Jersey Shore.

Lovell is accused of the murder-robbery of Frank W. Koch, a retired Allenwood farmer, on Koch's 70th birthday last Jan. 19.

On the witness stand Wednesday, Lovell pleaded his innocence and blamed John Bower, 39, of Jersey Shore, for the crime. Bower was convicted of first degree murder in the slaying last week and given a life sentence.

Tells Of Threat

Lovell told the court that several days after he visited Koch's home with Bower, Bower told him:

"The old man died. Keep your mouth shut or the same thing will happen to you."

Koch was beaten over the head with a flashlight by two intruders who surprised in the kitchen of his home. The men robbed him and died.

C. F. SEABROOK SUES SONS FOR SENDING HIM TO INSTITUTION

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP)—Charles F. Seabrook, founder of Seabrook Farms Co., has filed a one million dollar suit against his three sons. The suit says the sons illegally and unlawfully committed their father to a mental institution.

It was filed in Superior Court Wednesday as Judge W. Orvil Schalick denied a motion to dismiss an incompetency suit against the 73-year-old millionaire, who pioneered in the frozen foods industry.

The judge ordered a non-jury trial for June 15 on the incompetency suit. He set no date for a hearing on Seabrook's counter suit.

Charges Use Of Force
The incompetency suit was filed April 11, shortly after a judge ordered Seabrook released from Fairmount Farms, a private mental institution in Montgomery County, Pa.

It was brought by his wife, Norma, his three sons, C. Courtney, John M. and Delford; and his daughter, Mrs. Thelma Sidur.

Seabrook's counter suit charged that his son Courtney used force and arms and caused him to be taken in a car to Fairmount Farms and imprisoned.

Doctors Not Qualified
Seabrook's counsel, Atty. Samuel Orlando, sought to have the incompetency complaint dismissed on the grounds that the plaintiffs failed to meet the requirements of civil procedures.

Orlando said that the doctors whose affidavits were attached to the incompetency complaint were not qualified according to New Jersey state statutes. He maintained the doctors must be residents of New Jersey and that in Seabrook's case they were from Pennsylvania.

In arguing that the doctors were qualified beyond question, Richard J. Hughes, counsel for the plaintiffs, said that "unusual circumstances existed because Sea-

Drunken Driver Is Grateful For Arrest

HUDSON, Mass. (AP)—A motorist whose license was suspended for drunken driving over the Memorial Day weekend expressed his appreciation Wednesday.

He wrote the three policemen who took him into custody: "If it wasn't for the action taken by the police I probably would have been just another number in the highway fatality list. Worse yet, I might have killed someone else."

Colorado C. Of C. Sets Her Straight

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—The Denver Chamber of Commerce had news today for a New Jersey housewife — Colorado became a state Aug. 1, 1876.

Chamber officials said they received a letter from the housewife, who said:

"I am making a study of the U.S. territories (sic), so I am interested in any information you might have in Colorado."

TEACHING FAMILY

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Seven-year-old Karen Cagle says she just loves teachers—and she has about 20 good reasons. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cagle, teach in Tulsa elementary schools. In all, the parents count 20 relatives — brothers, sisters, aunts, uncles or cousins — who teach.

brook was hidden in New York and later in Miami and protected by paid armed guards to prevent an examination.

"Inhuman Torture"
Seabrook, in his counter suit, charged that he "suffered extreme cruelty and inhuman torture." He said he was "unlawfully detained and imprisoned for 22 days" at Fairmount Farms.

Seabrook Farms, near Bridgeton, N.J., was sold to Seeman Brothers, Inc., a New York food brokerage firm, for three million dollars on May 25.

Before the sale it was run by Seabrook's sons under a voting trust agreement that was to expire next January. Seabrook, who sold his majority stock to Seeman, had balked at renewing the agreement.

appreciation to Explorer Post 78 for its operation of the first aid tent at the camporee.

Training Chairman Donald Carver reported plans of Packs 161, 78 and 71 to continue activities during the summer. He announced Glenn Guise as the new counselor for the fingerprint merit badge.

Melvin Worley, institutional representative for the York Springs Boy Scout Troop and Explorer Post, said a meeting will be held Friday at 8 p.m. at the Boy Scout Cabin in York Springs with the hope that a Scoutmaster and Explorer advisor can be secured. Worley said that "the boys themselves are calling this meeting to obtain leadership.

Despite the fact that they have no leaders, eight boys are scheduled for camp, six took part in the boating course and others are carrying on similar activities, all by themselves."

Free Trip Offered

District Chairman Charles Ritter announced plans of the Aero Oil Co. to provide a free trip to the National Boy Scout Ranch in New Mexico this summer for an Explorer Scout of Adams County. Each Explorer is asked to write a letter stating why he would like to attend Philmont Ranch and his qualifications as a Scout. The letters must be mailed to the York-Adams Area Boy Scout office, 309 E. Market St., York, by June 15. A board of judges will pick the Explorer who will receive the $150 for the trip.

Ritter also urged enrollment for the naval encampment August 17 to 21 at Norfolk. The five-day trip will cost $18. A $5 reservation fee must be paid to secure participation.

GUIDE GROUP

application was unique in PUC annals, that no one had ever before asked permission for a similar type service.

Because final decision on the permit will be made by the Pennsylvania Utilities Commission from the record of the hearing, plus the briefs filed by the attorneys, every effort was made by all attorneys to exclude as much of the "opposition" testimony and include as much of their own clients' testimony in the record as possible. The result was frequent "objections," objections to the appearance of most witnesses, objections to much that was said by witnesses and bitter arguments tion in the trip.

Atty. Edward B. Buleit, chairman of the York-Adams Area Council, reported plans of the council to secure a full-time director of Exploring to serve the two-county area. He said Charles Harvey, who had been serving as Explorer director in addition to his other duties, has secured a promotion in Scouting and now is stationed with the Greene Council at Washington, Pa.

No Rule Against Horses

Appearing to explain how guides become licensed and the manner in which they explain the battlefield to tourists were Clerk of Courts Kenneth W. Johns, past president of the Battlefield Guides Association, and Lloyd R. Hartman, former school principal here and a battlefield guide for years. Both explained that a large part of the guides' duties is the answering of questions put by tourists. They explained that each must pass an examination by the National Park Service and must abide by certain rules of the park service in order to continue as licensed guides. The examiner, N. B. Dobosh, before whom the hearing was held, decided, following a series of objections and discussion between attorneys, that the two appeared as witnesses for "the protesting carriers."

Superintendent Myers testified that there is no rule against using horse-drawn vehicles on the battlefield, but said that "for the protection of both the riders and public, suggestion is made" that individual riders of horses use the bridle paths rather than the avenues.

"Sufficient Services Available" Paul Wolf, York Springs, operator of Wolf's Bus Lines, testified to taking guided tours over the field with a battlefield guide giving the details of the battle. He said that he had never conducted a tour on a ticket basis, that all groups were charter bus units.

Mrs. Wilda Waddell, proprietor of Blue and Gray Cabs, and Rufus Reaver, proprietor of Reaver's Cabs, told of their service of providing tours of the field with Battlefield Guides giving details of the battle. On occasion, they said, individuals or couples may wish simply to ride about on the field without a guide but they said that they did not consider that a guided tour and always sought to have the person visiting the field secure a guide.

Wolf, Mrs. Waddell and Reaver all said that in their belief there was more than sufficient services available for anyone wanting a guided tour of the field, that they never had to turn anyone down and that the service proposed by Gettysburg Tours was "not needed." All held they had never had any demand from the public for a recorded version of the battle with sound effects, and all held that the conduct of tours over the field comprised an important part of their own business.

TP Commissions Appoints Two

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission today announced the appointment of two Lackawanna County men to positions with the toll road agency.

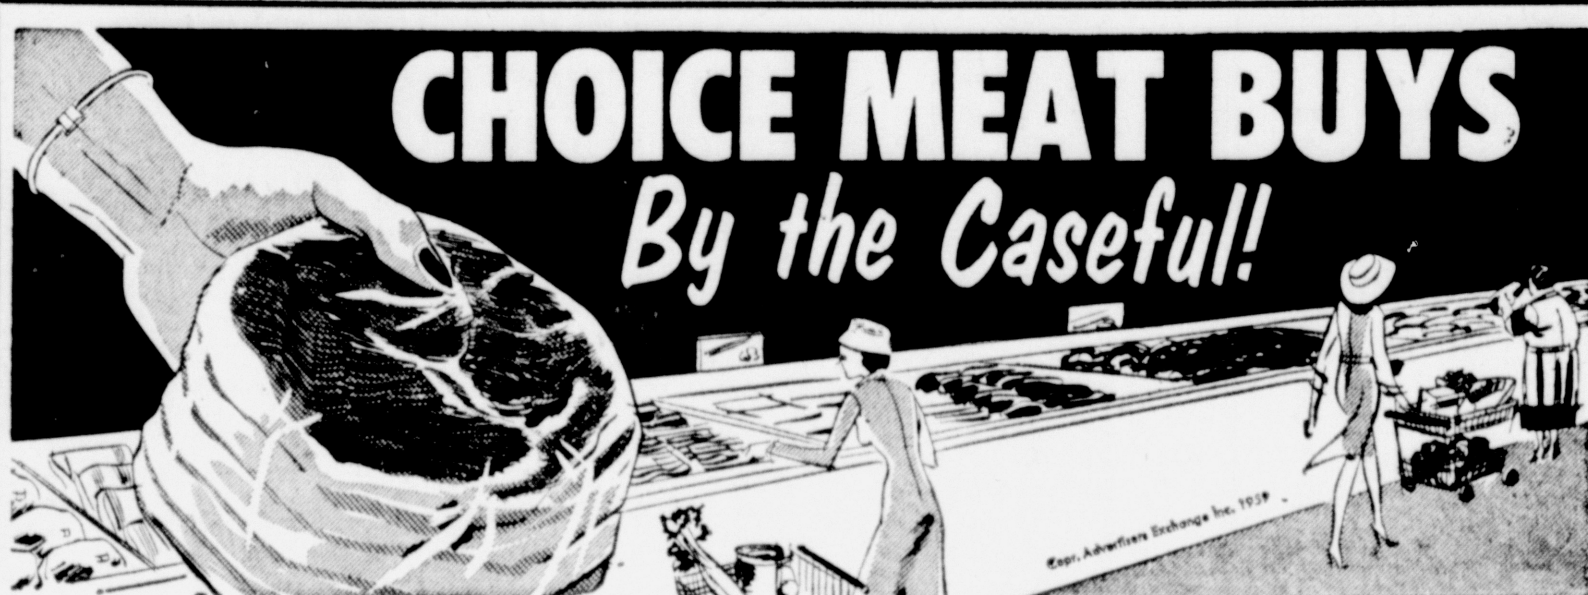

Named were: Clarence E. Natchand, of Dunmore, to supervise maintenance of the toll road's eight tunnels at $6,500 a year, and Joseph J. Loftus, Scranton, as turnpike budget director at $6,066. Loftus has been with the agency since January, 1958, as chief of its internal audit department.

Natchand formerly worked for the Penetryn System, Inc., of Albany, N. Y., a firm specializing in protection of bridges, tunnels and other structures against water damage and leakage.

NEW AIR SERVICE

HARRISBURG (AP)—The House Wednesday adopted a resolution favoring establishment of direct air service between Pennsylvania and the Orient.

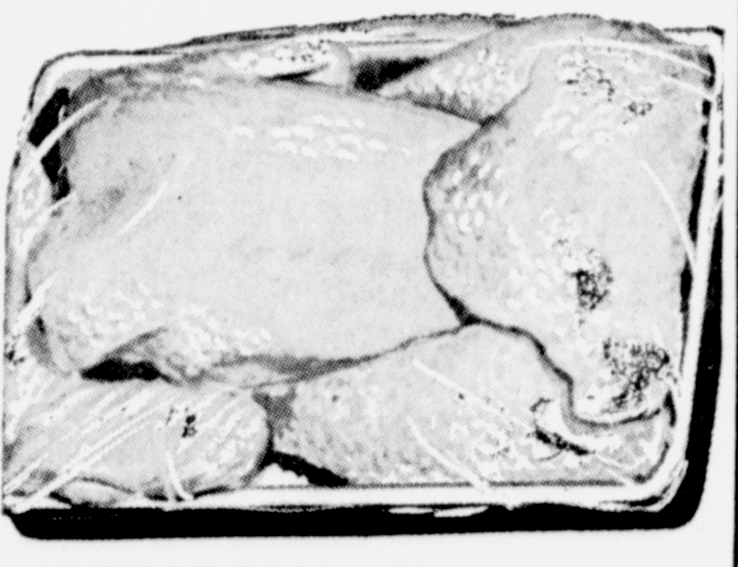

The resolution, which needs Senate consent, directs the attorney general, the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission and the Commerce Department to intercede with the proper agencies on behalf of the service.

Vigilant Hose, Marking Its 75th Year, Is Proud Of Its Record, Equipment

The Vigilant Hose Co., Emmitsburg, this year marking its diamond jubilee, "75 years of community service," takes pride in its record of activity on the part of its members. With fewer than 100 active members on the roster, the company had a 32 man average attendance at fires in 1958.

The company also takes pride in its equipment. It now owns a service and rescue truck; a 1951 Ford pumper with a 500-gallon tank and equipped with 1,000 feet of 2 1/2-inch hose, 500 feet of 1 1/2-inch hose and 28-foot ladder, and a 1945 Ford pumper with a 300-gallon tank, 1,000 feet of 2 1/2-inch hose, 500 feet of 1 1/2-inch hose and a 24-foot ladder. Mounted on top of this truck is a 55-foot aluminum pole extension ladder.

The 55-foot ladder was purchased within the past year at a cost of approximately $700. With it firemen can reach the top of any building in the community. It is also capable of reaching to the topmost windows of buildings at St. Joseph College and Mt. St. Mary's College.

Each of the trucks is equipped with two-way radio.

Other equipment includes a portable electric light plant, portable pump, fog nozzles, foam, carbon dioxide, first aid equipment, salvage equipment, gas masks, smoke ejector and portable power and hand tools many of which are carried regularly in the service and rescue truck.

Student Firemen
Although as volunteers the company's firemen are technically amateurs, there is nothing amateurish about them as firefighters. Classes of from 15 to 20 men have been taking various courses in basic and advanced fireman-ship from the University of Maryland in the past several years. Other courses have been conducted in first aid, salvage, Civil Defense and rescue. In addition there are regular training classes held at the fire hall the third Tuesday of each month.

John J. Hollinger is president of the company. Other officers are Vice president, Guy A. Baker, Sr.; secretary James E. Houck; treasurer, Guy R. McGlaughlin, and directors, Charles Hartdigen, William Martin, Clay Z. Green, James Kemp, Guy A. Baker Jr. and Carroll Eyer.

Line officers are: Chief, John S. Hollinger, first assistant chief, Sterling White, and second as-ant chief, Charles Stouter.

More Than Century
Although the Vigilant Hose Co. was organized formally as such just 75 years ago, the history of fire fighting in Emmitsburg dates back to an earlier time. Early records show that a company was formed in 1829 and members met regularly each month "with buckets and other requisites" for training.

In 1840 a corporation ordinance required every able man to become a member of the fire company. If any defected he was subject to a fine. Membership then was substantial. There were 141 men in the company in that year.

The same year a suction pump was purchased. Some years later, in 1884, the Emmitsburg Water Co. installed fire hydrants along town streets.

It was in 1884 that the Vigilant Hose Co. was incorporated under the laws of the State of Maryland. In 1910 the company was empowered to purchase and own real estate and in that year purchased the Firemen's Field.

Bought Fire House
The present engine house was bought in 1920 for $4,500. Before then, the fire equipment was housed in what is now the Rowe property, across from St. Joseph Catholic Church on N. Seton Ave.

In 1929 the company purchased a new Ford truck and equipment. It cost all of $3,185. The truck purchased in 1945 cost more than $7,000.

The fire hall on W. Main St. is one of beauty. A three-story building, it has, in addition to the large equipment room, a kitchen, meeting room, rest rooms and a spacious hall. When the town jail was removed from the building basement a few years ago, a recreation room was added there for members.

In 1945 new overhead doors were installed and new hardwood floors were laid. That year the building front was also cleaned and materials were bought for a new roof.

In 1950 the company bought new coats, helmets and boots for its men. The portable pump was bought that year.

Need New Truck
As in everything else, times and needs change. Firefighting requirements are no exception. To keep up to date—and incidentally to keep the town's insurance rates in line—new equipment is needed.

Engagement

MISS LEIST

Mr. and Mrs. William D. Smith, 12 E. Main St., Emmitsburg, announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen F. Leist, to Walter L. Simpson, son of Walter G. Simpson, Taneytown R. 1.

Miss Leist is a 1959 graduate of Emmitsburg High School. Her fiancé is a 1958 graduate of Taneytown High School.

from time to time.

The Vigilant Hose Co. is planning to buy another new truck soon. This means it must have money for the purchase. It also means that some repairs need to be made to the engine room floor in the fire house. Last month the company opened a campaign for funds. More than 1,000 letters were sent to residents of the town and the surrounding rural areas.

Response to date has been about 50 per cent, a company spokesman reported today. So the drive is continuing. The committee is hopeful that it will have responses from those of the community who have not so far contributed. No goal was fixed for the drive. The money need will be greater than in previous fund drives and the committee is looking to the generosity of community citizens to make purchase of the new truck feasible.

Seek Other Data
In his letter Guy R. McGlaughlin, chairman of the fund drive committee, reminds residents that the company "is always ready and willing to save and protect the lives and property of the people of Emmitsburg and the surrounding community against the ravages of fire." He reminds them that the volunteer organization is "supported solely by contributions."

In his letter he also requests that an enclosed questionnaire be answered. Requested is information about properties in rural areas, particularly the location of water supplies. The company is making up a file of this information so that firemen will know what to prepare for in case of an alarm.

On the committee with McGlaughlin are J. E. Houck, Guy A. Baker Sr., John J. Hollinger, Charles F. Stouter, George L. Danner and Ted Elliott.

Taneytown Council Orders Water Tank

A change to automatic operation for the water pump at the pumping station was ordered by the Taneytown town council Monday night after a discussion on the subject with representatives of the Baltimore Engineering Corp. The job of installing the necessary equipment was awarded to Dave Hiltbrich.

Purchase of a 15,000-gallon elevated water tank was also ordered. The tank will cost $30,995 erected, exclusive of the foundations. Mayor Raymond J. Perry was instructed to arrange for a site for the tank. It will be supplied by the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co., low bidder for the tank. C. R. Ford, representative of the company, attended the meeting and discussed the installation with council.

Mayor Perry was also instructed to proceed with paving of Roberts Mill Road.

State May Get Big Reimbursement

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pennsylvania would receive a reimbursement of 287 million dollars for 388 miles of roads, according to a bill approved by the House Public Works Committee.

The committee Wednesday approved legislation to reimburse states for certain free and toll roads which have been made a part of the interstate and defense highway system. The measure goes next to the Rules Committee for clearance for House action.

The amounts of money are based on 90 per cent of the depreciated original cost less federal aid already paid for toll and free roads.

Old Barracks May Be Youth Center

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Public Welfare Department is discussing with the Defense Department the possibility of converting the former Army disciplinary barracks at the New Cumberland General Depot to a youth rehabilitation center.

"We have inspected the barracks and find that they are most ideal for the kind of program which would be most beneficial for young people," Norman V. Lourie, deputy welfare secretary, said Wednesday. "The building of new institutions is almost prohibitively expensive and the department is deeply grateful to the Army for being willing to consider this proposition with us," Lourie added. The department noted that recent studies showed that some 1,500 juvenile delinquents could be sent to the barracks.

A great portion of Mammoth Cave in Kentucky is still unexplored. The passages explored extend about 150 miles. It from institutional treatment if facilities were available.

Miss Merman See Daughter Graduate

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—The old adage "the show must go on" took a back seat to graduation exercises Wednesday night.

Ethel Merman, star of the current Broadway hit musical "Gypsy," closed the show for one night and flew here to see her daughter, Ethel, 16, receive her diploma from suburban Cherry Creek High School.

FREY, Esquire 225 Frederick Street Hanover, Pennsylvania Solicitors GOV. LONG NOT TO BE COUNTED OUT IN SOUTH GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Ailing Gov. Earl K. Long, though down, still can't be counted out of the Louisiana political pot-pourri today. Attending doctors at the John Sealy Hospital said the 63-year-old Long might recover, possibly, within a three-month period. It was the first official speculation on how long the governor might be out of action. Physicians added to the brighter picture by reporting that Long had quieted down and his thinking and speaking were very clear. At the same time, Mrs. W. M. Knott of Many, La., the governor's sister, indicated his inclination to be in touch with the political scene in his state. "He knows what should be done," said Mrs. Knott, who is visiting him regularly. "His friends are cooperating." In the Louisiana capital city, Baton Rouge, legislators split in their camps of opinion on Long's political future. But while there was doubt as to if and when he would return, nobody moved to challenge his leadership. "The people around me know that I expect the governor to come back," Acting Governor Lether Frazier said.

FIREMEN PUSH ANNUAL PLANS FOR CARNIVAL

Plans for the annual firemen's carnival were furthered at the June meeting of the Alpha Fire Co., No. 1, of Littlestown held on Tuesday evening in the engine house, when parade plans were discussed and the entertainment for the week announced.

The carnival will be held the week of August 3 through August 8. Monday evening will feature Tex Daniels and the Lazy H Ranch Boys; Tuesday, the Littlestown High School Blue Band; Wednesday, Buck Benson and His Country Neighbors; Thursday, The Oklahoma Travelers; Friday, The Buckskins and Saturday, The Collegians, returning by popular request.

The parade will be held the Friday evening of Carnival Week at 7 p.m. when over $500 in prizes will be awarded for the best appearing fire company or department with 25 men or more with band or drum corps for the second best; for the best appearing company with 25 men or more with or without music; for the best appearing organization other than a fire company with or without music; for the best and second best appearing Ladies' Auxiliaries; for the best and second best appearing bands; and the best and second best appearing drum corps and for the best appearing fire apparatus. Books were distributed to the firemen present by the committee in charge.

Equipment Bought

President Clair J. Redding conducted the session which opened with "America" and group prayer. The report of social committee Chairman, Jack Rebert was accepted after the secretary's report by Harry W. Badders. George E. Hornberger reported for the committee appointed to purchase new equipment, such as raincoats, boots, nozzles, etc., that everything had been received and installed except the helmets which are expected in the near future.

Bernard M. Selby reported for the committee which was to investigate and secure figures on the number of people in the community, who in case of fire would not be able to remove themselves from a burning building, in line with the adoption of a project by the company at last month's meeting. The project is to secure stickers to be placed on the front door of the homes where the people live who are not able to help themselves so that in case of fire, the volunteer's first duty would be to make sure the occupants were out of the building. It was voted to adopt this project and stickers will be printed and distributed where they are presently needed, and will continue to be distributed when needed in the future.

To Parade Wednesday

Fire Chief Glenn E. Ohler announced that there had been one fire call since the past meeting with no damage. Truck Foreman Levi Hull noted that the new International truck had been taken to Pittsburgh to be transported from there to the factory in Lansing, Mich., where a new water tank is to be installed to replace one that was not satisfactory. A Ford service truck was given to the company for substitute service until the other truck is returned. Drill Captain Bernard G. Kehl urged the members of the Uniform Rank to turn out for the firemen's parade in Taneytown next Wednesday evening. Members not in attendance at the meeting on Tuesday will be contacted. There are a few uniforms available, if there is any firemen who has not belonged to the rank who would like to join.

Kenneth Hollinger was nominated for membership in the company with the following invoice:

Wants End To Discrimination

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Lawrence wants the Legislature to do something about discrimination—a problem he says affects all Pennsylvanians.

Addressing the St. Stephens Cathedral Men's Guild here Wednesday night, Lawrence called on the General Assembly to enact legislation banning discrimination in housing.

"Discrimination in housing because of race, creed, color or national origin is unchristian and uncharitable in nature, yet it is a problem affecting all Pennsylvanians," said the governor.

The House Law and Order Committee recently ended hearings on a state fair housing bill but has yet to send it to the floor for action.

Brundage Gives Art Collection

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Avery Brundage has signed over to San Francisco his 12 million dollar oriental art collection which some appraisers call the finest in the Western world.

The city attorney's office said that the committee appointed: Bernard M. Selby, Glenn Unger and John Morehead. Thomas Dutter and Gary Little were elected to membership at Tuesday meeting. Bills were ordered paid totaling $1,261.37 and receipts of the evening were $1,207.15. This amount included a $25 donation, partial proceeds from the recent barn dance held at the Emory C. Gitt farm, along the Littlestown-Gettysburg road, and a $25 donation for services rendered from Francis Smith.

County Firemen To Meet

It was announced that the next quarterly meeting of the Adams County Firemen's Association, will be held on Monday, July 6, at 8 p.m., at the engine house in Bruchtown. A thank you note from Maj. Charles F. Frock, Fort Leavenworth, Kan., was read, extending appreciation for services of the company to his family. The purchase of an adding machine was approved and Henry Walkman and Harry Badders were appointed the committee to make the selection. A new refreshment committee for the next quarter was also appointed by President Redding as follows: Larry Worley, Dewey Baumgardner and William Kinsell. Authorization was given to have cards printed and distributed announcing the annual solicitation for funds, held in conjunction with the annual carnival. Forty-seven members attended the meeting, and refreshments were served by Robert Millheim, Fred Miller and Clark Fuhrman. The company will meet again on Tuesday, July 7 at 8 p.m.

SEND SCHOOL TAXING BILL TO GOVERNOR

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Legislature has sent Gov. Lawrence a bill that would increase the taxing powers of school districts.

Final action on the measure came Wednesday as the House, in its busiest day of the session, passed 63 bills. The school district taxing proposal was approved by the Senate earlier.

It would give the state's fourth class school districts—which represent the bulk of the state's districts—the same taxing powers now available to second and third class districts.

Other Senate Bills
Other Senate-passed bills approved in the House and sent to Lawrence would:

Regulate the time within which the county treasurer shall pay over and distribute taxes he collects (199-0).

Authorize second class townships to acquire community sewage collection or disposal systems, either by gift or purchase (199-0).

Permit joint school boards to employ certified public accountants (199-0).

Authorize counties (except Philadelphia and Allegheny) to create capital reserve funds for capital expenditures (199-0).

Permit fourth - to - eighth class counties to attach pension funds of public employees who embezzle funds (199-0) (two bills).

Mrs. Harry Truman Has Returned Home

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—Mrs. Harry S. Truman, who underwent surgery for removal of a breast tumor May 18, has returned to her home here.

The 74-year-old wife of the former President was released from research hospital in nearby Kansas City Wednesday. Accompanied only by her husband, Mrs. Truman walked from the hospital to the family car for the short trip to her home.

The tumor was not malignant.

Wednesday that Brundage, financier and president of the International Olympic Committee would donate half of his collection as soon as the city completes the Brundage wing to the M. H. de Young Memorial Museum in Golden Gate Park. The res will be given over 25 years.

Zachary Taylor, twelfth President of the United States, was a second cousin of the fourth President, James Madison.

MAINE'S GATEWAY CITY LEADS TO JEWEL-LIKE BEACHES (BY EDWARD COLLIER)

Portland, Longfellow's "beautiful town that is seated by the sea," is Maine's largest city and gateway to 40 miles of bright beaches that are strung together like jewels. Built on a high bent-arm peninsula that seems hewn out of the rugged rock-guarded Atlantic coast line, this is the large America port that is nearest to Europe.

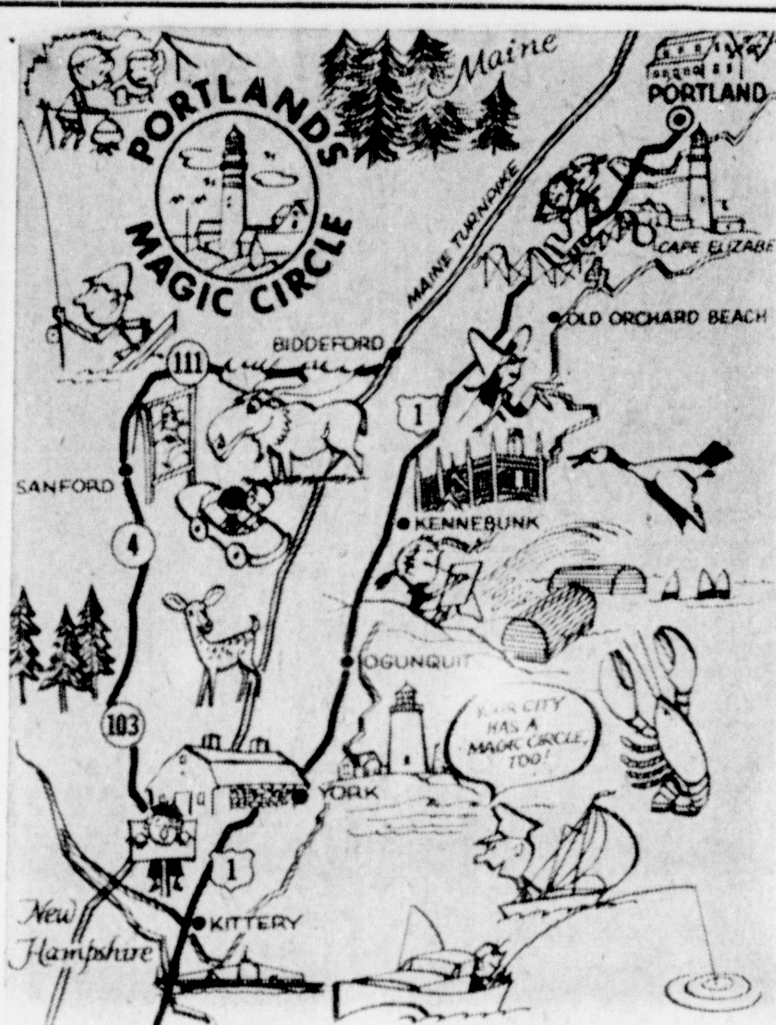

A Magic Circle of southern Maine's heirlooms begins in Portland on Congress Street which conveniently meets both the Turnpike and U.S. 1. At the shore end of the street is an over-all picture of Casco Bay, punctuated by the Calendar Islands which were formed by glaciers millions of years ago. Some are crowned by pretentious mansions, others are farmed and fished exactly as they have been for 150 years; the remainder are barren or populated only by seals and gulls.

Sea commerce is always important to the city, but today it vies with other means of transport, just as manufacturing overshadows the fisheries. But the Maine lobster holds tenacious claim to being the acme in robustness and succulence due to the cold, cold coastal waters.

Center Of Being

Monument Square is the center of being in Portland; it is the point from which citizens give you all directions. This lofty tribute to the city's sons who fought in the Grand Army of the Republic is at the junction of six busy thoroughfares, surrounded by office buildings, churches, history. If you drive on almost any side street, the brick walks and profusion of shade trees mellow the lines of the 18th and 19th Century houses and contradict the feeling of the recent industrial achievements.

Music, as well as municipal government, is dispensed from City

Maine's queen city is the starting point for a Magic Circle trip that leads to glittering sands, picturesque and wave-lashed rocky coastline, lobster fishing, sailing, water sports. Photogenic Portland headlight, oldest operating lighthouse in America, is at Cape Elizabeth. South is Old Orchard Beach, a seaside amusement center; Kennebunk and its Wedding Cake house; Ogunquit, famed for its artists' colony and beautiful beach; quaint York, known for the Old Gaol and colonial homes; Portsmouth naval shipyard at Kittery, home base for submarines, and Sanford, where it's not uncommon to see a deer or moose in town.

Hall on Congress Street. Housed in a 3,000-seat auditorium at the rear of the administration building is the Kottschmar, one of the world's largest pipe organs. During the summer the public is welcome at free daily concerts.

Among the nation's most curious landmarks is Portland Observatory, at the intersection of North Street. An octagonal tower made of timbers 63 feet in length, this relic of clipper-ship days informed the townspeople of the arrival of sailing vessels for 116 years. Crooked old Fore Street, a short distance east, is the locale that Henry Wadsworth Longfellow remembered in his picture-poem "My Lost Youth."

Shrines To Longfellow
Longfellow's birthplace at the corner of Fore and Hancock Streets has gone by way of disrepair, but at 487 Congress is the house in which he spent his childhood. Built in 1785 by his grandfather, this fine brick mansion is a shrine and museum with furnishings perfectly kept. Longfellow Square at State Street is hallowed by a bronze statue of America's great poet, seated in an armchair and holding a manuscript. It gave me a feeling of the sensitive, kind and cheerful person that I had always expected from his works. Of the many Portland houses open to the public my favorite is the 1859 Victoria Mansion on Danforth Street. Distinction stems from the elegance of detail: silver door knobs, some 300 carved balusters supporting the mahogany stair rails, ornate pianos, marble mantels and a living room with hand-painted roses on the ceiling.

The L. D. M. Sweat Museum, a wing added to the General Joshua Wingate House (built around 1800) on High Street, has many treasures. There are 400-year old Belgian tapestries and applauded paintings of John Singer Sargent, Gilbert Stuart and Douglas Volk.

Sturdy Symbol
The Magic Circle out of Portland provides a delightful automobile trip, as you swing south (Maine 77) to Cape Elizabeth, at the lower tip of Casco Bay. Pictures of the turbulent waves and the Portland Head Light are so familiar that you have a strange sense of return when you make your first visit.

George Washington ordered this lighthouse built in 1790 and it stands as the oldest warning to mariners now in operation on the Atlantic coast. Sturdy symbol of Maine, it has been photographed and painted thousands of times; you probably have seen it on playing cards, in museums and on calendars. In contrast is Old Orchard Beach, an amusement-packed strip along a wide sandy stretch of the rolling Atlantic Ocean. From here begins a gamut of beaches, each maintaining its own personality: Goose Rock, where knowing families come to enjoy the warmest of Maine's surf; Cape Porpoise, for lobster catching finesse; and Kennebunkport of Kennebunk, bastion of year-around loyalists who are entrenched on winding elm-shaded streets in the gingerbread glory of shipbuilding-day houses. Exhibit Number One is the much-photographed Wedding Cake House, a riot of unrestrained frosting and filigree in two tiers and topped by eight little minarets. Ogunquit's Indian name is translated "Oh! camera, quick!" by the modern hunter. It is idolized by artists, many of whom have been unable to leave this beauty spot. The sugar-like sand, topped by grassy dunes, and the wave-beaten rocks are set against a background of white pines. Here is the New England of clipped speech and behavior, where no one utters two words when one will do.

Colorful Museum

A winding road (U.S. 1A) hugs the shoreline enroute to swank York Beach and the history-aware little city of York. The road passes Old Gaol, one time combination 1653 jail, sheriff's residence, courtroom and dungeon; now a well-organized museum. Ladies in colonial-day gowns are posted in the old stone and weathered-wood building to explain the uses for the heirlooms that regional families have put on display. The huge dough tray for making prisoners' bread, different shaped irons for doing dress ruffles, cheese press and candle molds are in place in the kitchen. The sheriff's parlor and tea room is warmly cozy with a red brick corner fireplace and lusterware china. The original wide floor boards have been so worn that the knots protrude.

South at Kittery is the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard where craftsmen design, construct and repair submarines. If you cross the bridge into Portsmouth, New Hampshire, and turn left onto Pierce Island, you often can get a view across the river of one of the gray monsters tied up at dock, and of the chute where others may take their leave. The waters of Great Bay and Salmon Falls River empty here to create what is said to be the second swiftest current in the world.

Fine Early Homes

Portsmouth itself is a treasure trove of fine Early American homes, distinguished by the delicate wood carving and by the skill and good taste of the local ships' carpenters. There is the Historical Society headquarters, where Captain John Paul Jones boarded in 1779 at the age of 21 while his ship, the "America," was being fitted out in the harbor. Of particular charm to me was the Moffatt-Todd House, where Captain Moffatt could look down from his second-floor ship room on the wharves and watch his ships sailing out to the four corners of the globe.

The Magic Circle curves north (Maine 103) to South Berwick, then joins Maine 4 to Sanford, where they make rugs and little seaplanes. Nearby lakes and wooded hills make this a center for nimrods and fishermen, although it basically is an industrial city. The season for bow and arrow hunting starts early, and by summer the numbers of wild life again have become so plentiful as to be bold. When merchants held their Dollar Day Sale last year, a deer joined the crowd walking along the sidewalk to window shop. But our biggest surprise came one night at the drive-in movie when the screen seemed to take on a stereo dimension — a sour-faced, belligerent moose was wandering about in front of the screen!

Massachusetts factories produce about one-sixth of all shoes manufactured in the United States. Lhasa, Tibet, bans all foreigners. Hence, its name, the "Forbidden City."

Nine Murderers See Their Queen

LONDON (AP)—Nine convicted murderers watched Queen Elizabeth II stroll slowly past them Tuesday through a picturesque English garden.

With the nine killers—all serving life sentences—were 11 other prisoners in a working party from London's Wormwood Scrubs Jail.

The convicts and their guards saw the Queen when she attended a garden party commemorating the 200th anniversary of the Royal Botanic Gardens at Kew.

Elizabeth had been asked if the convict laborers should be allowed to work as usual at Kew during her visit.

"Of course they can be there," she replied in effect. "Why not? They are all my subjects."

KILLED IN COLLISION
HARRISBURG (AP)—Mrs. Beatrice M. Harp, 44, Duncannon, was killed Tuesday in the collision of an auto and a pickup truck at nearby Wormleysburg.

Mrs. Harp was riding in an auto operated by Herbert Little, 41, police chief of New Bloomfield. Two other passengers in Little's auto and the truck driver, Amos Baker, Mechanicsburg, were injured.

LEGION LEADER SAYS REDS WILL TAKE OVER CUBA

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Legion's national commander said that "agents of the Kremlin are well on the way to capturing a major base of operations 90 miles from the United States"—Cuba.

The Legion official, Preston J. Moore, said Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro and Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa present the United States with problems that have "striking — and sad — similarities."

"Expendable Burden"
Moore described Hoffa as "one of the nation's most expendable burdens," and added: "The people of Cuba traded Batista for Castro, and there's very little chance that they improved their lot. The members of the Teamsters swapped Beck for Hoffa, and there's no chance at all for improvement there."

Castro overthrew the Cuban regime of President Fulgencia Batista. Hoffa was elected to succeed Dave Beck as Teamsters Union president.

Moore's prepared speech was for the 63rd commencement exercises of the FBI National Academy, which is graduating 86 local police officers from 39 states and Hawaii.

NO ELEMENT OF CHANCE

"Calculated risk" seems to be a popular phrase for old-fashioned "gamble." But there's no place for either in preparing or dispensing pharmaceuticals. Ever notice the letters U.S.P. or N.F. on a medicine label? The letters represent two official books that are recognized by federal law — the United States Pharmacopoeia and the National Formulary. Together, they are the pharmacist's "bible." They give approved standards of the quality, purity, and potency of most medicinal agents. Whatever your prescription calls for, we are prepared to fill it.

LIMPLEFSE IS DELICACY IF BAKED RIGHT

By FRITZ WITTI
LAKE PARK, Minn. (AP) — If the lady next to you at dinner appears to butter her napkin, carefully roll it up and then calmly proceed to munch away at it, don't write her off as nuts. She's probably eating lefse. And, if it isn't homemade, there's a good chance it came from Art Carlson's lefse plant in this western Minnesota community of some 800 persons.

What is lefse? (It's pronounced LEFF-sa.) Well, the ingredients are simple — mashed potatoes, flour, some shortening and a dash of salt — but that's where the arguments start.

Searchers for "real" lefse are equally as demanding as seekers of the "true" martini, and each has his own ideal.

Done Just Right
"The secret's in rolling it out and baking it. You have to do it all by hand and it has to be done just right," says Art.

The mixture of potatoes, flour and shortening is rolled out to the size of about a one-foot, paper-thin pancake and then baked lightly on a dry griddle.

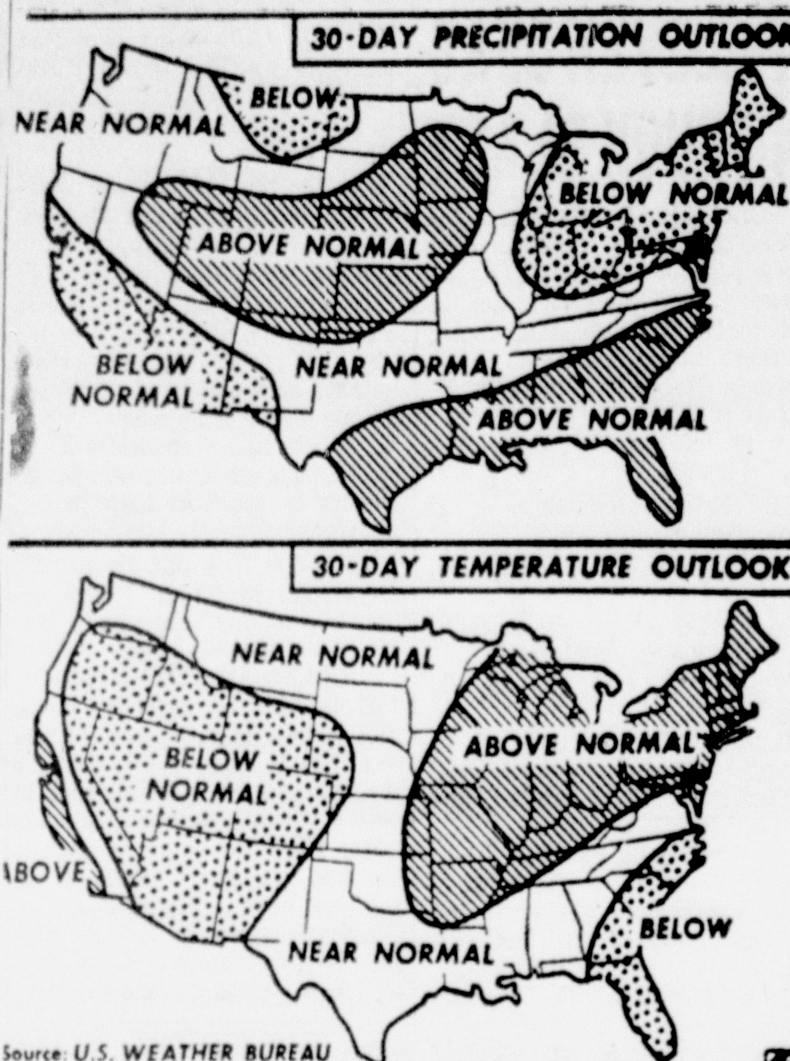

Some say thin as a quarter, others thin as a dime and still others, so thin you can see through it. The baking must be right — too long, it gets hard and brittle, like flatbread; not long enough and it's doughy.

Just right, it's thin and pliable, off-white in color with lightly browned spots. It has a neutral taste, with just a touch of potato flavor.

Ample Butter
"And there's only one way to eat lefse — with plenty of butter," says Art, a jovial man who obviously has eaten his share in 57 years.

But, he would get argument there too. Lefse is spread with many things, from jam to peanut butter or maybe buttered and sprinkled with brown sugar or sugar and cinnamon.

It's usually eaten as a bread and, among Scandinavians and others in the know, finds its perfect partner in lutefisk, a cod-fish delicacy.

Talks Big
Carlson, serving his second term as mayor of this community, is a man who talks fast and continuously and, when he talks about lefse, he talks big. He has a right to. His plant puts out about as much lefse as any single place in the world-including Norway where it originally comes from.

A crew of close to 100, including some 75 local housewives who make each sheet of lefse by hand, turns out upward of 15,000 one-foot sheets in a two-shift day. "We use about 12 railroad cars-loads of potatoes during the season — from Labor Day through January — and this year we hope to hit two million sheets. Last year, we turned out 1½ million," Carlson said.

That two million sheets put together would make a lefse covering a whopping 1½ million square feet.

NEW BOOK

NEW YORK — "Keystone Counselor," a novel by Atty Isaac J. Vanartsdalen, of Doylestown, has been published by Exposition Press of New York.

The book is about the life and times of Benjamin Zachariah Moyer, lawyer, teacher and naturalist, whom the author describes as "a fictitious personage who was raised in a rural Pennsylvania community, taught school for a short time, spent a few years as a country lawyer, and finally became a leading lawyer in Philadelphia."

In depicting Moyer's life, the author has interwoven material about customs and conditions in the Keystone State of yesteryear.

TOTS INVADE CONCERT HALL

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Imagine being invited to a concert and walking into a room full of shouting, exuberant youngsters, aged 3 to 6.

As the children's voices intermingle with the strains of Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Suite," the orchestra conductor solemnly leads a congo line.

Simultaneously, a chubby 4-year-old bangs on the drums and a little girl peers intently into a tuba from a distance of three inches.

Somebody flipped? No, it's a Tiny Tots concert. This particular concert was given in the ballroom of a downtown hotel by the Chattanooga Symphony Orchestra, directed by Julius Hegyi.

To facilitate the movement of its youthful guests, the orchestra seated itself in the middle of the room.

And for a full hour, while the musicians played, the 130-odd small fry had the run of the room. They jumped, tumbled, yelled and marched. They explored those shiny-looking instruments and added their own interpretation of how they should be played.

But they listened too. And this, according to Hegyi, was the primary purpose of the whole thing.

CLOTH HOLDS MEMORIES

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Mrs. Olive Staiger is 73 and still stagestruck. Her dearest possession is a cloth of stars.

The cloth is a cotton square covered with autographs of 43 stars famous in the history of the legitimate theater. Sarah Bernhardt, Lillian Russell, Otis Skinner, Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Henry Miller and Ethel Barrymore are just a few.

As a young girl, Mrs. Staiger had little chance to attend the theater, so she mailed the cloth to theaters in Buffalo whenever her favorite performers appeared.

"I was just a silly girl then," she laughs, "and whenever I got back a new signature I would hold the cloth to my face and try to capture the smell and excitement of the theater where it had been."

Embroidered Signatures
The cloth was mailed back and forth from 1902 to 1910. Mrs. Staiger embroidered the signatures to preserve them.

Ethel Barrymore was the last to sign. "She kept it for months," says Mrs. Staiger, "and finally after I had sent her four or five letters she returned it. That convinced me I didn't want to chance losing it, and I decided to stop the collection."

Since then the cloth has been framed under glass and Mrs. Staiger says she'll never take it out or part with it.

The widow of a businessman, Mrs. Staiger lives here alone now. She says the cloth evokes a whole colorful world for her. "My family would never have approved my trying for a career on the stage but I've always been stagestruck. And I'll probably always be."

Young Lieutenant Tells How Invasion Of France Looked Thru German Eyes

Editor's Note — When the Allies swarmed ashore on the French coast, a young German artillery officer was busy training green replacements for the defense of Hitler's Atlantic Wall. In this third of four eyewitness articles commemorating D-Day, Horst Fluegge — now on The Associated Press staff in Germany — recalls the momentous events from a German viewpoint.

By HORST FLUEGGE
BONN, Germany (AP)—We had waited for the phone call for a long time. It came around 8 o'clock on June 6. A sergeant picked up the receiver. He listened for a while, then turned to us and said, "They have landed."

That was D-Day, 15 years ago. I was a lieutenant stationed with a German army mobile artillery unit at Avranches, 60 miles from the main Allied beachhead at Cherbourg on the Normandy coast of France.

I didn't see what happened at Cherbourg that morning, for we were marshaling the curious mixture of youthful veterans of the Russian front and the kids and old men hastily recruited for the defense of the Atlantic Wall.

We marched for two days until we reached the Orne River near Caen and there we ran into the powerful barges of the Allied naval vessels that lay offshore. We were an exhausted, defeated bunch, the men of Artillery Unit 1154. We knew we had lost the war, but there was nothing to do but fight it out. To us it did not appear honorable to surrender.

It's difficult to remember what I thought and felt then I was tired, worn out from four years in Russia and from trying to train our inexperienced replacements. From the middle of May I had been adjutant to the commander of Artillery Unit 1154 in Avranches. I was moved there with our other officers from the Eastern front.

Men Were Inexperienced
Our men were mostly youngsters and old men who had held staff jobs in Berlin. They were inexperienced and unable to cope with the superior weapons and manpower of the enemy.

We were not at all surprised that the Allies struck at Cherbourg. The coastal area of Normandy was the most vulnerable region in the Atlantic Wall whose defenses had been planned by Field Marshals Rommel and Von Rundstedt.

Our main forces lay 60 miles from the coast and we had to rush men to the beaches to combat the Americans, British and Canadians who stormed ashore.

Allies Had Air Control
From the first it was clear that the Allies had air superiority, more than the Russians had managed in the East. And the naval artillery on the Allied ships had greater range than our big guns. They could hit us while our shells fell far short.

Never during the war, including the dismal days in Russia, did I find the morale of our troops as low as it was in the first days of the Allied invasion.

I remember talking to our staff chief in those first invasion days and hearing him say with a defeatist grin: "Let's take a Messerschmitt and go off to Spain."

Murder Plot Fails
On July 20, 1944, the plot to assassinate Hitler took place and failed. Word got around fast and we felt then that the war would last until we were driven back into Germany.

We fought hard, though it is difficult now to explain why. We felt back slowly before the advancing American and British tanks.

On Aug. 11 we underwent a particularly severe attack. Most of the men of Unit 1154 were killed or taken prisoner. I was hit in the side by a tank machinegunner and removed to a hospital in Holland.

When the Allies moved into Holland I was shipped back to Germany and eventually found myself in command of a newly organized artillery unit on the Eastern front. I was in Czechoslovakia when the war ended in May, 1945.

EVANS SWITCHES JOBS
NEW YORK (AP) — Maurice Evans, a theater man who rotates his multiple activities, is now ready for a return to acting in a Broadway production of Shaw's "Heartbreak House."

Evans will be associated with Robert L. Joseph in management, but the direction will be in the hands of Harold Clurman. Mid-October arrival on Broadway is planned.

JOAN CARROLL RISING STAR OF GERMAN OPERA

By ALEX BURNHAM
NEW YORK (AP) — An exceptionally pretty American girl is on her way towards challenging the exalted position of Maria Callas.

Well, anyway, she's made a start. Her name is Joan Carroll and she has been chosen as the leading coloratura soprano of the Hamburg State Opera of West Germany.

Miss Carroll is slim, 5-foot-4, has jet black hair, dark eyes, a creamy complexion and a voice to bring droves of backstage johnnies.

But they won't find her in a marrying mood. "How can you get dinner for your husband and still be an artist?" she asked an interviewer a few days ago. "You get terribly lonely, all this work, but it must be so if you are to create."

Born in Phila.
Joan was born in Philadelphia and admits to being in her middle 20s. Currently she's engaged in a whopping work program. This includes learning the German language and conquering eight roles which she will undertake in Hamburg starting next August.

Even when she was a youngster in Philadelphia Joan knew that some day she would be an opera singer. It has been her one consuming ambition in life, and from her early teens she has studied week after week.

"You've got to know where you're going," she said. "I just knew — I just knew I had to be an opera singer!"

It wasn't easy. At first she had to take engagements at night clubs and Viennese-type restaurants. "It was a dreadful experience. But at least you learned stage presence. The important thing was to sing. And it kept me going while I studied."

Breaks Came
Then came a few breaks. She won assignments with the Central City Opera in Colorado and the Dallas Opera in Texas. And she was a semifinalist in the Metropolitan Opera competitions here.

Her biggest triumph was an engagement with the New York City Opera. The critical New York City audiences gave her warm applause. And then one night an agent for the Hamburg company heard her sing and invited her to an audition.

She did so last March 15 — "exactly at 2:30 p.m.," she said —

Stamp News

By SYD KRONISH
The Associated Press
The 4-cent NATO 10th anniversary commemorative stamp issued April 4 features the NATO emblem and motto.

The four-pointed star appears to the left of the adhesive superimposed on a solid dark circle. Upper right is "NATO" and below are the years "1949-1959."

The simple design was by the noted artist Stevan Dohanos. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization came into being when the treaty was signed in Washington, D. C., on April 4, 1949.

U. S. Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield announced that the 8-cent "World Peace Through World Trade" commemorative postage stamp originally scheduled for issuance April 19 at Washington, D. C., was issued April 20. The reason for the change was that "it was not considered desirable to have a first day sale on Sunday."

Haiti has issued a new set of six stamps honoring Pope Pius XII. Three are for airmail and three for regular postage. The 10-centimes regular and the 50-centimes airmail depict Pope Pius XII with children. The 50-centimes regular and the 1.50 gourd airmail show a portrait of the Pope praying. The 2 g regular and the 2.50 g airmail illustrate the Pope giving blessings.

Eire issued a special cachet cover honoring St. Patrick's Day March 17. The two color cover was a drawing of Cahir Castle, County Tipperary, Ireland.

Scrapbook Supplies Detail For Castle Autobiography

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — In the dancing days of Vernon and Irene Castle, life was full, exciting and one exhilarating experience crowded out the one before it. After the passing of years, how can anyone remember such small details as the color of the upholstery on the 1917 Minerva when the car arrived on the memorable day of the Vanderbilt soiree?

"I couldn't," said Irene Castle frankly. "We could never have written the book at all without the scrapbooks — 18 huge volumes of them — and my mother's collection of 2,000 pictures."

Mrs. Castle, now slim, lithe and lovely at 65, was speaking of the writing of her autobiography, "Castles in the Air." She started, trying to write it alone, years ago during a vacation in Cuba, but gave it up.

"I just couldn't remember enough," she said. "And I'm not a writer."

Valuable Fan
Recently, however, she revived the book project with two writing neighbors in Eureka Springs, Ark., Bob and Wanda Duncan. But it was the scrapbooks, faithfully kept for years by a devoted Castle fan, Miss Christine East, of Greensboro, N. C., which proved the hard base on which the memoir really was written.

The Duncans studied the newspaper stories and magazine articles written through the years, and based series of questions on them. Then, every day for three months they talked with Irene Castle with a tape recorder in attendance. She answered their questions, the tapes were transcribed — and the book was produced.

"It was amazing," said Mrs. Castle. "All sorts of memories — things I'd completely forgotten, engagements we had danced, food we had eaten, people we'd met — all came flooding back. I kept people and events. I had not thought about since they had happened."

The book has been nagging at Irene Castle for many, many years. She's glad it is finished, that the record of the lives of the legendary Castles is set straight.

Founded Animal Shelter
"But I do hope that I will be remembered for my humane work — not just as a dancer," she remarked, almost wistfully. "I think the most important thing I've ever done in my life has been to make people more conscious of the mistreatment, neglect and downright cruelty in handling animals."

Actually, Mrs. Castle may be remembered by some as the founder of the Orphans of the Storm animal shelter in Lake Forest, Ill., and as a crusader for better treatment of animals. But, in spite of her wishes, she will probably be better remembered as the glamorous symbol of an era and an elegance which disappeared after World War I.

Vernon Castle, of course, was killed in a wartime plane crash at the peak of their dancing career. But even after that Irene was the most slavishly copied woman in the country. She adopted chiffon as a graceful flowing dancing dress — and two continents erupted in graceful, flowing chiffon. She tied a Dutch bonnet on her head on a windy day — and American women all wore Dutch bonnets. Most important, she cropped her bright hair one day to make dancing easier — and American women promptly grabbed the scissors. Bobbed hair arrived and has never left.

Mrs. Castle, now the wife of advertising man George Enzinger, says she found looking back more pleasant than painful.

The above description was taken from two drafts of LeRoy H. Winebrenner, R.S., dated August 12, 1942, and March 6, 1940.

There is further excepted, however, from Tracts 1 and/or 2 hereof All those two lots of ground bounded and described as follows:

LOT #1: BEGINNING at an iron pin in the center of the public road at other land of the Grantors; thence by same South 38 degrees 35 minutes East 22.8 feet to a stake; thence by said land South 57 degrees 46 minutes West 104.7 feet to a stake; thence by the same South 39 degrees 9 minutes West 87.6 feet to a stake; thence by the same North 72 degrees 46 minutes West 17 feet to a stake; thence by the same South 44 degrees 5 minutes West 125.5 feet to a stake; thence by the same North 68 degrees 50 minutes West 45.6 feet to an iron pin in the center of the public road aforesaid; thence in the center of said public road North 21 degrees 30 minutes East 395.6 feet to an iron pin, the place of BEGINNING, CONTAINING 45 perches, more or less.

Said two lots of ground being the same which were surveyed by LeRoy H. Winebrenner, C.S., as the property of George W. Gingell and Thomas R. Gingell.

Lots #1 and #2 being the same which George W. Gingell et al, by their deed dated December 18, 1956, recorded in the Office of the Recorder of Deeds of Adams County, in Deed Book 216 at Page 225, did sell and convey unto Harry D. Zimmerman and Arnelida L. Zimmerman, husband and wife.

TRACT #1 is being exposed to public sale together with right of way and easement excepted unto the Grantors in Deed Book 188 at Page 255 which reads as follows:

"Right of Way: The grantors herein reserve the right to maintain a right of way over and upon a certain tract of land twelve (12) feet in width and running from the South side of the Public Highway leading from Emmitsburg to Waynesboro to the land of the grantors, lying Southwest of the land herein conveyed, the grantors shall maintain, repair and keep up said road or lane for the use of the said grantors, their heirs, successors or assigns, perpetually."

TRACT #2 is being exposed to public sale together with right of way and privilege reserved unto the Grantors in Deed Book 209 at Page 67 which reads as follows:

"The grantors reserve, however, for themselves, their heirs and assigns, the right to maintain a flow of water through the mill race on the property hereby conveyed and for that purpose to enter upon the land hereby conveyed to clean or dredge the said mill race or to clean or repair the dam which divers water thereto from Miney Branch Creek. The grantors, their heirs or assigns, shall be responsible for any actual damages done to the real estate hereby conveyed by entry thereupon as herein provided. This reservation shall run with the land burdened and the land of the grantors benefited thereby."

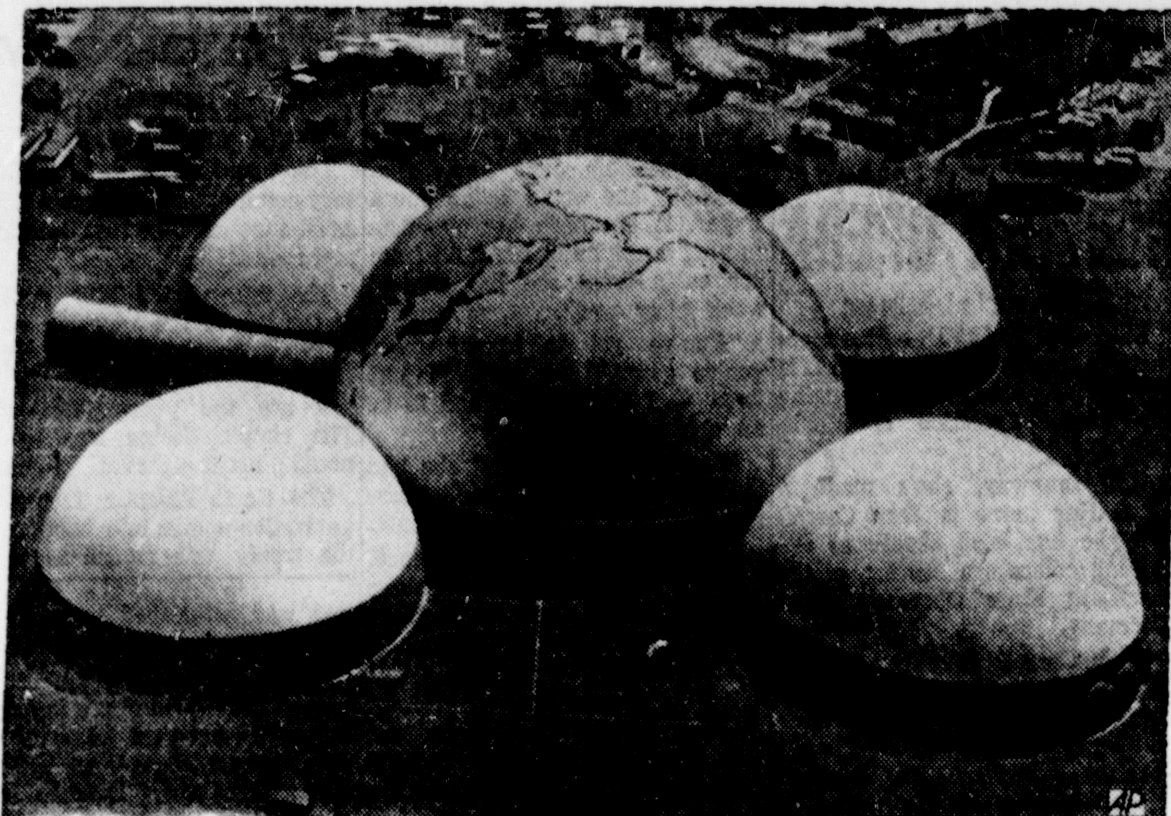

TRACT NO. 1, Improved with 7-room brick house, garage and outbuildings.

TRACT NO. 2, Improved with 8-room brick house, large barn and outbuildings.

Said and taken into execution as the property of George W. Gingell and Thomas R. Gingell and to be sold by me

BUYERS FIND VALUES TODAY IN FURNITURE

By EDWARD S. KITCH
CHICAGO (AP) — You'll get your money's worth in new home furnishings.

Reasonable prices, better design, sturdy construction and lighter scaling characterize this year's furniture crop, says Henry P. Glass, designer. Buyers attending the current International Home Furnishings Market here also have a wide choice between designs. Says Glass:

"People have found out at last that manufacturers are not charging a premium for good design in furniture, because they have discovered it isn't any more expensive to make well-designed furniture."

"Usually things that are lighter in weight, plainer in style and simpler in construction are easier to make than those that are ornate, heavy in proportion and intricate in construction."

For example, he explains, if the frame and construction are lighter scaled, there is more money left to put into a better grade fabric. Lighter construction and proportions enable better veneer and finer finishes.

So homemakers will find more and more polyfoam used in upholstered pieces and even pre-formed plastic frames.

The polyfoam replaces coil springs and the plastic frames replace wood construction. Rubber-webbed bases form the base for more chairs and sofas.

One group called "Intermezzo" by Glass is upholstered with polyfoam cushions and the thin walnut arms of the lightly scaled pieces curve down from the back.

Plastic Chairs

A new kind of furniture construction in the use of plastic for frames is introduced by Morris Futurian. Designed with Scandinavian influence, the frame of the living room chair is fabricated completely of plastic. It opens new ways to design upholstered furniture. Says Futurian:

"Finding a practical way to provide versatility of design has been a problem of the industry ever since the first piece of upholstered furniture was made. The limiting factor has been the frame."

The plastic overcomes the handicap of grain in wood. The plastic is about five times as strong as wood and about three times lighter. All frames from a single mold are identical. It does not absorb water.

Rocking Chair Revival

There's also a swing to Early American furniture. This especially pleases Arthur Margolis, who describes himself as a practical man. He likes the old-fashioned rocking chair. Says he:

"There's a certain security about Early American pieces that men consistently like. They want to feel that the chair they're sitting in is not suspended in space, that it won't collapse with a sudden shift of weight."

VIEW OF MARY

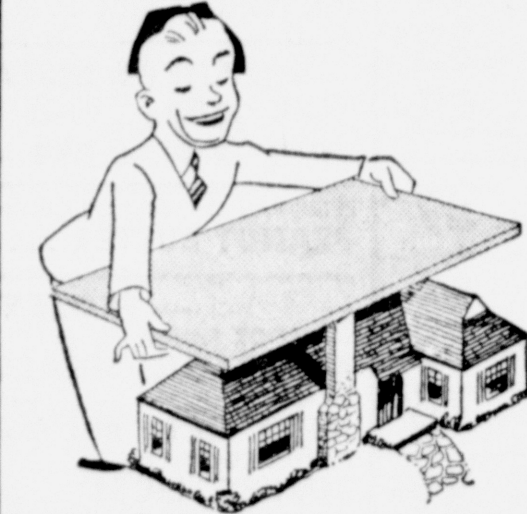

DROGHEDA, Ireland (AP) — Criticizing charges that Roman Catholics show "excessive devotion" to the Virgin Mary, John Cardinal D'Alton, primate of Ireland, declares that they "never forget that she is a creature just like themselves."

He said that Catholic veneration for Mary stems from the fact that she is "a creature chosen by God for the highest and holiest office that could be entrusted to a human being."

OKLAHOMA'S FIRST LADY BUSY MOTHER

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — "Keeping everybody in clothes and ready to go" is her biggest problem, says the wife of Oklahoma's young chief executive, J. Howard Edmondson.

Just managing a home for three lively youngsters and a busy governor-husband would be a big chore for a lot of women — but smiling, attractive Jeannette Edmondson supervises her home and handles her duties as the state's official first lady with calm, unruffled efficiency.

As the governor's wife talks, the youngsters — Jimmy, 11, Jeanne, 9, and Patty, 7 — play in the broad driveway behind the rented two-story brick house which is the temporary "executive mansion." The governor, trying his hand at a few basketball goals with Jimmy, admits he is out of practice. The girls have recruited Highway Patrol Lt. Bill Fisher, Edmondson's driver, to throw their jump rope.

Good Baby Sitter
"Bill's getting to be a pretty good baby-sitter," says Mrs. Edmondson.

The occasion is one of the family's few evenings together. And Mrs. Edmondson says it is pretty typical of their evenings at home — the kids playing outside until dinner time, then a session of television or listening to records.

Asked about entertaining at home, Mrs. Edmondson says because of her husband's busy schedule — "I can hardly plan anything."

However, the Edmondsons don't lack for visits from friends. Nothing at her husband, Mrs. Edmondson quips:

"He always seems to come in that door with a group with him."

Campaigner

The 33-year-old governor's wife, who took an active part in his gubernatorial campaign last year, still travels a lot with him. She rarely accepts weekend appointments so that she will be free to go with him.

Although Mrs. Edmondson does little of the cooking and house-keeping these days, she takes time to help her housekeeper, motherly Mrs. Clyde Wilson, plan meals. She also does all the children's clothes shopping — and she admits keeping three growing youngsters clothed is her biggest problem.

"I just hope Jimmy's white coat will fit," she says, thinking of spring wardrobes.

Fried Chicken

Asked about her family's favorite meal, Mrs. Edmondson says, "Fried chicken would be about as close as you can come."

But she adds:

"Of course my husband always votes for steak, which he likes to cook on an outdoor grill. He charcoal it outside, even in the snow."

Mrs. Edmondson doesn't know when the family will move from their rented "home" into the official residence. They decided to move into the 10-room brick house while waiting for the mansion to be renovated and redecorated. It is big and roomy and Mrs. Edmondson is enjoying it. Says she:

"I love being spread out. It's easier to keep."

Does she wish the pace were a bit slower at times?

"Gracious, no!" says Mrs. Edmondson. "I hate it when things get too quiet. I get more done when I'm working under pressure."

SCOLDS GSA FOR POLICY ON ITS SPENDING

HARRISBURG (AP)—Aud. Gen. Charles C. Smith insists that the General State Authority—the state's borrow-to-build agency—should make certain it has enough money to finance projects before it starts them.

The fiscal officer told GSA board members at a meeting Wednesday that state agencies proceed this way in asking for GSA money to finance construction.

"The departments ask for allocations they know are too low and after they get a foot in the door, they come back and ask for more."

3 State Hospitals

Smith said the authority cannot leave a project half finished once it is started or allow costly plans to gather dust until they become worthless. Therefore, he noted, it has no alternative but to approve more money.

He insisted that the GSA should undertake construction only when there is sufficient money to pay for the entire project.

The discussion arose when the board was asked to approve $293,500 in additional allocations for construction projects at three state hospitals.

Mont Alto On List

The GSA increased an allocation for improvements at Shamokin State Hospital from $500,000 to $635,000. It also approved increases in costs of projects at these state hospitals:

Samuel G. Dixon (Mont Alto), addition to water supply system, $423,717 to $489,000; Wernersville, two patient ward buildings $3,914,431 to $4,010,931.

The authority made allocations totaling $4,255,800 for nine construction projects at state teachers colleges. Caruso explained that money to design the projects was allocated earlier but, at that time, funds for construction were unavailable.

The money would finance construction at these state teachers colleges:

California—a library building, $515,100; Cheyney—a library addition, $340,800 and a physical education plant, $777,200; Clarion—library building, $495,300; Edinboro—a dining hall and kitchen, $669,000; Indiana—a library building, $538,900; Kutztown—a science hall, $523,400; Mansfield—renovation of education building, $198,100; Millersville—addition to for-

GETTING READY FOR TRIPLETS

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The odds against having them are 8,100 to 1. But suppose it happened to you. If your doctor said, "You're going to have triplets," what should you do?

After talking to the busy parents of seven different sets of triplets in this area Staff Writer Margaret Fitzgibbons of the Dayton Daily News' Camera magazine drew up this consensus of advice from those with experience.

"FIRST, get off your feet and save your strength. Triplets often arrive early, have less chance of survival than singles or doubles.

"SECOND, organize. It will be a long time before you will be alone again, with time to think. Your next 18 years are laid out for you. Learn to telescope tasks.

"THIRD, strip away non-essentials. You will alter your ideas of sanitation. Triplets will pass a cold around anyway. You probably won't worry very long about three to a dish or a spoon.

"FOURTH, expand your quarters. There's a crowd. Prepare for an invasion. Learn to budget.

"FIFTH, become accustomed to being a human oddity. Strangers will follow you and ask hundreds of questions starting with, 'Are they triplets?'

"SIXTH, be prepared to face a solid threesome. Triplets form a corporation of 'We' at birth. Everyone else is 'They' (including parents). When you spank one, three cry."

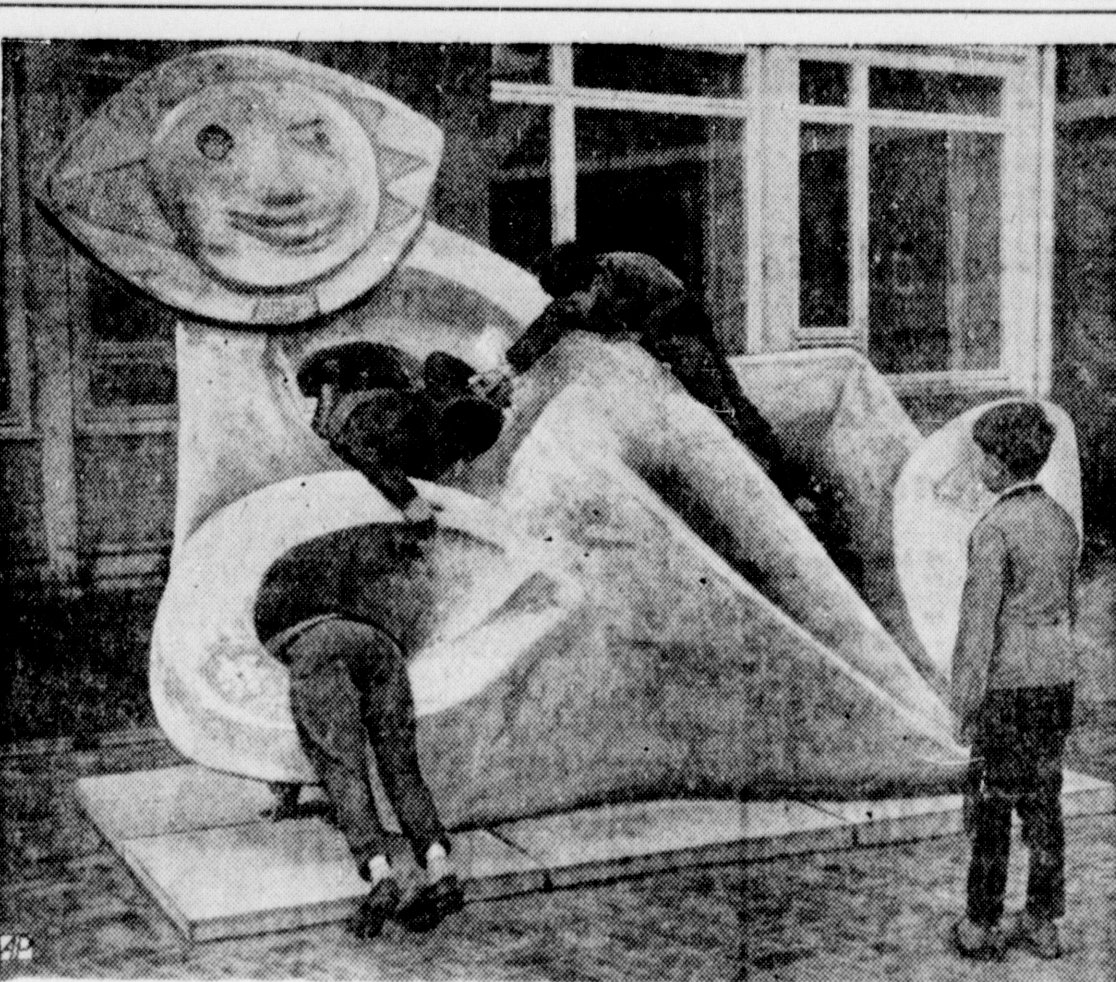

CINCINNATI (AP)—Says Manager Mayo Smith of the Cincinnati Reds:

"Don't sell this ball club short. We could go all the way if our pitching clicks. (It was third best in the National League in 1958.)

At the other eight positions we're as good as any club in the league. It looks like another great pennant race for National League fans."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Favor 2-Year Period For Driver Permits

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce today endorsed a "moderate increase" in the state motor license fee, but suggested adoption of a longer licensing period.

The chamber took the stand in commenting on Gov. Lawrence's plan before the Legislature for increasing the annual drivers' license fee from $1 to $3.

"The state chamber supports a moderate increase in fees, but we believe the (administration) bill should be amended to provide a licensing period of not less than two years," said the chamber's executive director, Arnold L. Edmonds.

cut off the air.
In most of the cases, the bags involved have been the type used to protect cleaned garments.

These bags are not a new product. They have been manufactured and on the market for more than six years. Their use has increased greatly in the last three or four years.

It is estimated that 600 million garment bags are produced and used in the United States annually. The total for polyethylene bags of all sizes — for small toys, apples, potatoes, sandwiches and thousands of other items — is estimated at six billion a year.

The transparent garment bag has gained wide acceptance by dry cleaners and consumers. It enables the consumer to be sure he is getting his own clothes back from the cleaner while he is still in the shop. At home, it makes identification easy in a closet of freshly-cleaned clothing.

When they have fulfilled this primary function, the bags are still useable in many ways. Housewives use them to hold dampened clothing which is to be ironed later; for wet bathing suits on summer outings, and even to protect plantings around the house from frost.

It is during this "second use" period, manufacturers and safety officials believe, that the bags form the greatest hazard for children. When they are protecting clothing, hung up on a closet rack, they are out of reach of small hands. But, when they are lying about the house, they are an invitation as costumes or "tents" and to tragedy.

Public awareness is what manufacturers and safety officials seek now.

This awareness can be won in the same way in which the public was made conscious of the pupils of old ice boxes and refrigerators in the last few years. Newspapers contributed immeasurably in that safety campaign.

These suggestions could save a life:

Keep the bags away from children.

Treat the bags with the same respect accorded matches or cutlery. They're not toys — don't play with them!

When the bags have outlived their sensible usefulness, destroy or throw them away. Never use a plastic bag as covering for a crib mattress.

Our citizens are used to hearing many appeals for help. However, one new appeal from Washington deserves our special attention because it involves the welfare of the youth of our community.

This new appeal is from Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, who warns of the alarming impact of the half-billion-dollar-a-year mail order business in pornographic and obscene material now being carried on through obscene mail dealers.

In urging more effective legislation at the national level in a recent presentation to the subcommittee of the House Post Office and Civil Service committee, the hard-hitting postal executive said more than laws are needed if we are to wipe out the massive movement of the type of material so ruthlessly purveyed among our youngsters.

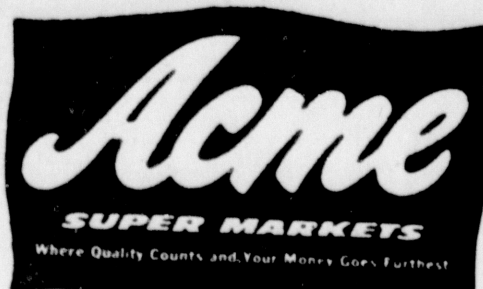

He cited recent confiscation of tons of lewd motion pictures, filthy books and pamphlets, and objectionable circulars advertising the availability of this material to all age groups but aimed primarily at the youth of our country.

The Post Office Department, whose vigilance in this matter has never been questioned, established new records in criminal prosecution of the "merchants of filth" during the past year but its efforts fail to make a dent in the tremendous trade. However, only by public support can postal authorities and local enforcement agencies hope to combat this evil.

Mr. Summerfield recommends that each citizen appoint himself a committee of one to report every piece of objectionable material to the local postmaster.

The postmaster, in turn, will present the matter to the Post Office Department's Inspection Service. A letter of complaint, signed by the citizen, along with the envelope in which the material was delivered, is all that is required. That, we think, is a fair enough request from the nation's number one mailman who is doing his best to keep filth out of the mails.

SHERIFF SLAIN MOVING ON MAN TO QUESTION

TAYLORSVILLE, N.C. (AP) — "The sheriff and I walked through the back door into the hall and started upstairs. A little more than halfway up I heard a shot. The sheriff turned and fell into me. The only thing he said, was, 'Oh Lord, I'm shot'."

That was the way Deputy Sheriff Joe James described the slaying Tuesday of Sheriff Thomas E. Bebbler, 53.

The officers had gone to the home of Jones Ellis to investigate a family argument.

They were starting upstairs to talk to Ellis' son, Willard, 38, when the sheriff was hit in the back by a .22 caliber bullet.

Jones Ellis had complained that his son was throwing rocks at the house, and had telephoned the sheriff's office for help.

Willard barricaded himself upstairs after the shooting. A neighbor, R. Z. Matheson, finally persuaded him to surrender.

Willard first was jailed here, but later was whisked to a Stateville jail when a crowd formed.

Coroner L.M. Warren, who will act as sheriff until county commissioners appoint a successor, said Willard was being held without charge. Bebbler, who was starting his third four-year term as sheriff, is survived by his widow and five children.

MIDDIES HEAR SEC. W. FRANK

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — The new secretary of the Navy Wednesday advised this year's Naval Academy graduates that as officers they should promote the policies of their service but play down interservice rivalry.

William B. Franke, whose nomination as secretary was confirmed Tuesday by the Senate, was principal speaker at graduation ceremonies.

In his prepared text, Franke told the midshipmen that competition—in schools, in effort for promotion, in ship against ship—is "right and proper."

The color parade, customarily a spectacular high point in the June Week doings, was rained out for the first time Tuesday.

Several thousand spectators jammed into Dahlgren Hall for an indoor ceremony which substituted for the usual display on Warden Field.

Miss Graham, a pretty Penn State coed from Bloomington, Ill., was chosen color girl by Mid-shipman Douglas Volgenau of Clarence, N. Y.

Abbottstown

ABBOTTSTOWN — The Women's Guild and Ladies' Aid Society of Emmanuel United Church of Christ met Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Kinneman. Mrs. Kinneman and Miss Minnie Orndorff were hostesses. Mrs. Oscar Nace lead the discussion on "Sources of Information." The senior choir rehearsed in the church Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

The Community Vacation Bible School will meet at St. John's Lutheran Church Monday through Friday for two weeks beginning Monday for primary, junior and intermediate pupils. Pre-school pupils will meet in Emmanuel Church. The two churches are sponsoring the school. Classes will be from 9 to 11 a.m.

First Friday masses at Paradise Catholic Church will be at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Friday. For those to attend either mass, communion will be distributed in a brief ceremony at 7 a.m. Those who are unable to go to church may receive communion at home that day if the pastor, the Rev. Louis S. Dougherty, is notified.

Mrs. Dale Hoffman was admitted to the York Hospital Sunday.

CHIGGER BITES PREVENTED BY SULPHUR DUST

Chigger time is here. Many an unsuspecting hiker or berry picker is returning from woods or fields to develop on his legs or body raised, whitish spots or areas about a quarter of an inch in diameter and with a tiny, blister-like red center.

It means that the hiker has been invading chigger country, according to Dr. T. L. Guyton, Director of the Bureau of Plant Industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Few persons detect the presence of chiggers until they have been attacked for several hours or perhaps a day, Dr. Guyton says. By that time intense itching and scratching have begun, greatly to the discomfort of the victim.

First Stage Mite

Looking into the life cycle of chiggers, Dr. Guyton says they are the young or first active stage of a large soil-inhabiting mite, and later will become a harmless resident of the soil—after sucking blood and leaving an irritant in the skin of humans, animals or poultry. When big enough to attack, the young mites collect on weeds and plants, waiting for a free meal. So vigorous are their attacks that they have been known to kill young chickens, he declared.

He said a good dousing of the legs and body, waist high, with finely ground sulphur will give protection as well as anything, applied direct to the skin before venturing into lowlands where weeds and grass are high or into fields of blackberries and briars.

Other Materials

If sulphur dust has too much of an objectionable odor, one may use benzyl benzoate or dibutyl phthalate, high sounding names but not quite so effective as good old fashioned sulphur, Dr. Guyton asserts. Clothing also should be dusted. A hot bath on returning home will remove all traces of the repellent from the body. Closely woven garments and high boots are recommended, not too comfortable in hot weather.

Those exposed to chiggers without a protective repellent should take a warm bath and change clothing as soon as possible, lathering well with a soap containing sulphur or creosol, permitting the lather to remain for a few

SOAPY WATER GOOD SPRAY ON SPITTLE BUGS

Home gardeners and flower growers today were advised of a simple and inexpensive control measure for spittle bug.

This is the sap sucking insect which secretes a frothy substance around itself and the infected plant stem.

"If the froth is removed, the spittle bug will soon die," says George B. Slesman, entomologist in the Pennsylvania Bureau of Plant Industry. "A cheap and easy way to remove the froth is to spray the plant with soapy water. One or two teaspoons of nicotine sulfate added to a gal-minutes. Scratching should be avoided as much as possible. There is little to allay itching other than to kill the chiggers and apply a cooling lotion such as mentholated ointments or carbonated vasoline. Plenty of cold showers or bathing in salt water tend to reduce fever and local burning in severe cases.

lon of soapy water will aid the treatment."

Slesman explained that the soapy water breaks down the froth exposing the spittle bug to air and direct sunlight which it cannot tolerate.

If the infestation is particularly heavy, he says that lindane or chlordane insecticides may be used to eliminate the plant pest.

To use chlordane, a dust containing five per cent of the insecticide or a spray made with three tablespoons of 40 per cent wettable powder per gallon of water is recommended. One or two applications at seven to 10-day intervals should give complete control.

A one to 1½ per cent dust or spray made by mixing one tablespoon or 25 per cent wettable powder in a gallon of water is advised if lindane is to be used. Spray when needed with a seven to 10-day interval between treatments.

When using these insecticides, be sure to wash off any of the concentrated material which may be spilled accidentally on the skin, Slesman said, and keep children and pets away from the sprayed area until dry.

Always keep insecticides out of the reach of children, he added.

MORTON TABS CONGRESS AS A 'WON'T DO'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican national chairman has labeled the current Congress a "won't do Congress" and said it is bogged down on many fronts.

"It won't accept substantial and vital portions of the President's program," the chairman, Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky.), said of the Democratic-controlled Congress. "And it won't come up with an alternative program of its own."

"In these times," Morton continued in a speech prepared for a National Press Club luncheon, "a 'won't do Congress' just won't do."

Won't Produce

He added that in view of its record, "I cannot believe that the 'won't do Congress' is going to produce the Democratic presidential nominee."

Morton mentioned no names, but four senators are the men most often mentioned as Democratic presidential possibilities.

Cowboy Admits He Is Wanted By FBI

THERMOPOLIS, Wyo. (AP)—A cowboy on an isolated cattle ranch, arrested Tuesday while he ate, has admitted his identity as one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men.

Richard Allen Hunt, 27, was sought on charges of kidnapping an Oregon policeman and wounding another last March.

"He seemed glad it was all over," Sheriff Eddie Todorovich said after he and Undersheriff David Schott surprised Hunt at a ranch 35 miles west of Thermopolis. "He said he'd be glad to get back to Oregon."

Todorovich said he and Schott were at the ranch and had recognized the fugitive from an FBI poster picture.

The largest oil tanker ever built in Europe, the 68,500 ton W. Alton Jones, was recently launched in Sweden. It was built for the American Cities Service Co.

They are Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, and Stuart Symington of Missouri.

News Briefs

BONN, Germany (AP)—The West German government has banned the sale of records of Hitler's speeches.

The records, imported recently by a branch of a British firm, apparently were made for the American market.

MANILA (AP)—A band of armed men Tuesday ambushed and killed 10 bus passengers traveling on a secluded road outside of Bongabon town, in central Mindoro province. The ambush apparently stemmed from trouble on a local estate.

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and other British leaders took part Wednesday in a ceremony marking the 100th anniversary of the great Westminster clock and its bell, Big Ben.

W. S. Morrison, speaker of the House of Commons, handed Hugh Molson, minister of works, a wooden replica of an inscription noting the centenary which will be carved on the north face of the clock tower.

The clock actually went into operation on May 31, 1859, and Big Ben on July 11, 1859. In fixing the date of the centenary the minister
